Harding Policies Win Alaska Approval

CANNERIES CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Cabinet Officers Find Grievances Are Directed at Industries

DENY MRS. HARDING IS SERIOUSLY ILL

President's Wife Said to Be Much Improved Following Breakdown

SEWARD, Alaska, July 19.—The Alaskan policy of the Harding administration suits the Alaskans, judging from expressions at the hearings given citizens from various points by Secretaries Hoover, Work and Wallace.

The hearings were held in view of complaints often received in Washington against the administration of Alaskan affairs. The cabinet officers expected a great flood of grievances from the people of Fairbanks, Anchorage and Seward, but there was hardly a complaint made against the government.

The chief complaints made were those against canneries, steamship companies and other interests. There were also some against those who make money in Alaska and then take it away.

Blame Canneries.

Wasting of resources such as fisheries also was blamed on the canneries.

But the Alaskans themselves, judging from their expressions to the president and cabinet members, are satisfied with the treatment accorded by the government. They are not united among themselves. Various sections of the country pull against other sections.

The Alaskans as a whole think they must be permitted to have larger revenues and a closer local control of the canneries and similar industries.

The transport Henderson sailed early today for Valdez, whence it will go to Cordova. Stories from "outside" that Mrs. Harding is seriously ill, heard as the presidential party returned to Seward, were emphatically denied today. Mrs. Harding simply went herself out on the trip into the interior. Because the days were so long she did not get enough rest.

Days Are Too Long.

The entire party, not used to the midnight sun, stayed up every night hours beyond the usual day time, and in the case of Mrs. Harding this had fatiguing results.

When the party reached Fairbanks Mrs. Harding was so tired a slight nervous reaction followed and she was simply forced to cancel all participation in the program. She has been spending most of her time since then in bed under treatment, but is now in good health. She will, however, abstain during the rest of the trip from fatiguing activities.

Daring Flyer Confident Of Success

QT. JOSEPH, Mo., July 19.—"It looks like I will make it this time," Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan said today as he lay flat on his back in a "pup" tent here.

Maughan's face was tanned and he looked tired. He ate little but spent most of the time here trying to rest.

After 20 minutes he left his cot and climbed slowly into the cockpit pit ready for the last half of the journey.

"The worst is over, he said, as he adjusted his flying helmet."

Plane Plunges 1600 Feet on Mountain Crag During San Francisco to Reno Trip.

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—Jack Gregory, Los Angeles aviator, crashed 1600 feet to his death on a mountain crag near Lake Tahoe, according to reports received here today.

Gregory was flying from San Francisco to Reno, and was somewhat out of his course at the time of the accident due to fog in the Sacramento valley. One of his controls jammed, and the plane went into a nose dive, according to the report.

SENATE FACING CONTEST OVER COMMITTEES

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Reinforced by the election of Magnus Johnson to the senate from Minnesota, Progressives were prepared today to wage battle royal for control of the legislative machinery in the new congress.

If the Progressives are to get anywhere with the legislative program to be framed by a bi-partisan conference here in the fall, it was pointed out, they must have a large representation in important committees.

With the addition of Johnson to his little band of so-called radical progressives, Senator LaFollette can indefinitely delay the organization of the new senate, where the Republicans have only a nominal majority of six.

Since the taxes and the tariff are the main problems to be dealt with, the Progressives will concentrate their efforts to securing places to the senate finance and interstate commerce committees and the ways and means, interstate commerce and rules committee in the house, which control legislation.

There are five places on the finance committee and four on the senate interstate commerce committee to be filled. With LaFollette and six Democrats already on the committee of sixteen members, progressives, joining with the Democrats, could control the committee if they could gain two more places. The same gain obtains on the interstate commerce committee.

REDDING, Calif., July 19.—After waiting 25 years for his runaway wife to return, Dr. Jacob D. Eades today gave up hope and filed suit for divorce.

"Swamp Girl," Captured By Ruse; Confesses Beating Stepmother

WAUSAU, Wis., July 19.—Miss Mary Lawandow, 21, has confessed that she attacked her stepmother with a club before fleeing into a swamp, where she eluded capture eight days, District Attorney George Lippert announced today.

Mrs. Edna Lawandow was attacked and severely injured while asleep following a family dispute. Authorities believed the assailant used an axe, but the "swamp girl" feebly admitted at a hospital here that she rained more than twenty blows on the woman's head with a maple club, Lippert said.

The girl was captured in a bog last night and brought to a hospital here today. She was near starvation and exhaustion from bites of mosquitoes and other insects. A posse caught her after it had trapped her by a ruse.

During the long search Miss Lawandow completely baffled pursuers. Clad in a sweater and bloomers, she flitted through the underbrush and swamp bogs so swiftly that Sheriff Stewart's men were unable to get sight of her.

A neighbor girl, Frances Werenski, 16, was enlisted by a sheriff to aid. Frances placed a package of sandwiches in a clearing and called "Yoo-hoo, Mary! Here's something to eat," and withdrew. A few minutes later Mary appeared in the midst of hidden possession. She leaped into a bog, where she was captured.

She collapsed, begging to be taken home.

FEAR SPLIT OVER BRITISH NOTE

PHILIPPINES ROW UP TO HARDING

Secretary Weeks Asks More Data on Clash; Post- poned Action

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Secretary of War Weeks today called on Governor General Wood of the Philippines and Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, who headed the wholesale resignations of the cabinet and council of state, for further reports on the crisis that has arisen in the islands.

Weeks cabled to General Wood and Quezon asking them for information on certain points raised in the break between the American and Filipino members of the government of the islands.

The war secretary's action in cabling to the Philippines for further information followed immediately on receipt by him of reports from Quezon and Wood dealing with two sides to the controversy. Evidently Weeks is not satisfied with the first reports.

In announcing these facts today, Weeks declared that no final action will be taken in the governmental crisis in the Philippines until President Harding has been completely advised of the situation.

Weeks said that he had been advised by Admiral Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department, that Governor General Wood was acting within the authority vested in him by the organic law of the Philippines in reinstating Ray Conley, secret service agent, the incident which caused the break between Wood and Filipino leaders. Conley had been cleared of charges of bribery.

However, when Weeks himself was asked whether he held that Wood had acted within his authority, the secretary declined to say definitely, stating that he wanted to wait on further reports concerning the situation in the islands.

JOHNSON ASKED TO SPEAK AT BIG FAIR

Efforts are being made to procure United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson to make the principal address when the Orange county fair opens here in September, it was learned this afternoon.

The Orange County Fair association has forwarded a letter to Senator Johnson, inviting him to deliver the address. Individual letters also have gone forward to him from J. P. Baumgartner, W. B. Williams, A. J. Crookshank and Dr. C. D. Baker.

Senator Johnson is scheduled to return momentarily to Washington from his European trip. It is understood that he will be in California during the time the fair is held and the chances that he will accept the invitation to deliver an address here are therefore believed to be excellent.

The event is proclaimed a pageant of the finest products of Southern California—beautiful children.

Phoenix Votes for Railroad Franchise

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 19.—The city of Phoenix voted by 3,525 to 226 to permit the Tucson, Phoenix and Tidewater railroad to operate over the streets of the city. It is believed by advocates of the franchise that this action will place Phoenix on the main line for the trans-continental limited of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe.

Adm. Sigsbee Commander Of Battleship Maine, Dies

NEW YORK, July 19.—Admiral Chas. Dwight Sigsbee, who commanded the Battleship Maine at the time it was sunk at Havana harbor, precipitating the Spanish-American war, died here today of heart disease.

The admiral had been in failing health for a year, but had been able to take a short drive only yesterday.

Admiral Sigsbee was born at Albany, N. Y., January 16, 1845. He was appointed to the United States naval academy in 1859 and graduated four years later in time to participate in Civil war engagements. He attained the rank of rear admiral in 1903.

During the war with Spain he was in command of the St. Paul, to which he was transferred after the Maine was blown up in the Havana harbor. For extraordinary heroism displayed during the war he was advanced three numbers in rank. He was retired January 16, 1907, after 48 years in the service.

RADICALS PLAN TO EAT TEXAS TOWN INTO BANKRUPTCY

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, July 19.—A vast army of unemployed descending upon Port Arthur, Texas, will attempt to eat the town into bankruptcy, officials of the Industrial Workers of the World said here today.

The advance was ordered in retaliation for beatings administered to three members of the organization and the plan of campaign calls for a policy of passive resistance somewhat on the order of the German policy in the Ruhr.

"Thousands of men will fill the jails and eat Port Arthur out of house and home," John Shuskie, secretary of the Marine Transport Workers, said here today. They are descending upon the town from all quarters. "They will not carry a weapon, nor will they argue the merits of the case."

"They will just eat and sleep without funds—probably in jail—and force the town to recognize the I. W. W. or go into bankruptcy trying to feed it," Shuskie declared.

POLICE PREPARE TO WELCOME I. W. W. ARMY.

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, July 19.—Port Arthur today prepared for the invasion of I. W. W. reported under way.

Twenty thousand members of the radical organization were declared moving toward this city from all sections of the country. Their coming was in protest against the treatment of John Holland, organizer for the I. W. W. who was seized, beaten and taken from the city by a mob.

William Covington, police chief, said there was lots of work to be done in the city by labor gangs to which the I. W. W. will be assigned when arrested on vagrancy charges.

COAST "WOBBLES" TO AID MEMBERS IN TEXAS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Members of the I. W. W. from Pacific coast ports were en route to Port Arthur, Texas today, obeying the call issued from headquarters of the organization in New York for all "foot-loose" to go to the aid of fellow members under arrest there.

SEEKS FUND OF $40,000,000 FOR COTTON

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, July 19.—Colonel Sloan Simpson, cowboy of the Texas plains, is in New York to obtain $40,000,000. He wants the money to finance the co-operative marketing of 250,000 bales of Texas cotton.

Imbued with the dogged determination that characterizes the Lone Star state cow puncher, the rugged Simpson had other qualifications to negotiate with local cottoners for the huge sum of cotton money he expects to obtain at a low rate of interest.

He is a Harvard graduate, was a Rough Rider under the command of the late Theodore Roosevelt, a colonel in the late war, and a cow puncher for five years.

There will be no Shelby, Montana, "Bust" for this polished, picturesque cowboy of the plains, who is stalking New York financial centers for a lot of money. Simpson is treasurer and secretary of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association. He says the organization is freeing its 30,000 members from the bondage of mortgaged crops and is enabling them for the first time to set a price on their product.

CRISIS NEAR IN TEUTON DEBT ROW

Newspapers and Public Fail to Share Optimism of Officials

LONDON, July 19.—On the eve of delivery of the British reparations note to Germany, marks fell to a record low of 1,425,000 to the pound sterling on the London exchange today. This was approximately 300,000 to the dollar. Later the mark fell to 1,550,000 to the pound sterling.

LONDON, July 19.—The British cabinet met today and made final revisions in the all-important note to Germany, the document which may be a signal for a final break of the entente over reparations.

A covering letter which will accompany the note and an explanatory document were also discussed and completed.

The note, with its accompanying documents will be delivered Friday.

The optimism from "authoritative sources" was not shared by the British or continental press nor by the public. It was generally felt the note held possibilities of a break with France over the subject of reparations.

It is understood, although the contents of the note have been closely guarded and were subject to eleventh hour changes, that Britain insist in a covering letter that the British idea on reparations is in conformity with the Versailles treaty.

French spokesmen have been stressing the point that Britain has ignored the treaty. The note may lead to further debate between France and England over which correctly interprets the treaty that ended the World War.

Marquis Curzon, foreign minister, received the German ambassador last night. At the same time, Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar of Belgium were receiving the French ambassador to Brussels. The Belgians probably will go to Paris the first of next week to confer with Premier Poincare on the reply to be made to Britain's suggestion that all the allies endorse the note to Germany.

Identify Patrolmen As Bandit Suspects

KANSAS CITY, July 19.—Three former patrolmen, arrested with a gang of eight alleged robbers were identified today as highwaymen by recent victims. Thirteen persons identified Ross Richardson, former policeman, as the robber who held them up. Richardson was declared by Mrs. W. W. Greene to resemble the man who murdered her husband, a state senator, three weeks ago.

TRAIN VICTIM FACING QUIZ IN SLAYING

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—Hovering between life and death, both legs severed by a freight train, Patrick Coyne lay in West Pennsylvania hospital today with the secret of the brutal murder of his girl bride locked behind unconscious lips.

Detectives waited outside the hospital room to question him at the first moment doctors permit regarding his movements yesterday and his knowledge of the crime.

Julia Coyne, his pretty bride of 18, was found brutally murdered behind the locked doors of their honeymoon cottage at Port Perry.

Relatives broke into the house to find her dead body, a revolver with an empty shell and signs of a struggle. The girl was at first declared to have been dead about 12 hours previous to the discovery yesterday morning.

Coyne, the husband, is a brakeman. He went to work at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, on the eve of the crime, fell between two cars at the South Duquesne yards and suffered loss of both legs above the knee.

He may not live.

Coyne had been married but five months.

Until Coyne's movements can be carefully checked it will not be known whether he can be suspected of the crime. The probable time of his bride's death—compared with the hour of his arrival at work, will determine that.

BROOKLYN, Mass., July 19.—Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was fined $100 in court here today on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. On a second charge filed by Newton policemen Maranville was found guilty of speeding and failing to stop and was fined an additional $25.

New Solon Loses Milking Race With Wife By Talking Too Much

KIMBALL, Minn., July 19.—Magnus Johnson, "dirt farmer" senator-elect from Minnesota, revealed today that he does much of his thinking on a three-legged stool in his cow shed.

He sat on the same three-legged stool, milked a brindle cow and told his philosophy of life to the United Press.

Hard work is his solution of successful living. He likes to work and every other member of his family works. But he is so busy thinking that every other stream of milk misses the bucket.

Johnson did so much thinking during the interview that he forgot about a milking contest he talked to his wife about when she declared she could milk the most cows. Mrs. Johnson milked seven cows while her husband milked only three and talked a lot.

The boys—Victor, 21; Francis, 19, and Magnus, Jr., 14, take care of the farming. Mrs. Johnson supervises everything and runs the house and Agnes and Florence, 11 and 10, go to school.

The senator himself likes to do the chores. But it took him five minutes to find a halter and nearly as long to locate a pithfork.

"What do I like better than farming?" Well, legislative working," the senator-elect answered. "I'm crazy about it. That's what I like to do. But I don't want a job where I'd tied down all the time. I have always been able to go and come as I please and do as I please. I couldn't stand to be tied down anywhere. I wouldn't sit in an office all day, I couldn't do it. In the senate, however, I'll have to be on the job where there's something going on. But at that I can get off when I want to."

MECHANICS MAKE SPEEDY REPAIRS

Escaping Fumes Cause Pilot to Become Sick During Journey

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Perfect weather prevailed at San Francisco at 2:30 this afternoon, giving every promise that transcontinental flier Russell Maughan now at Cheyenne will have nothing to hamper his landing at the Marina. Should fog develop to make a landing at the Presidio impossible Maughan is expected to land at Redwood City.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 19.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan resumed his dawn-to-dusk flight from New York to San Francisco at 3:32 p. m. Mountain Standard time after a fifty-five-minute delay here caused by an oil leak in his motor.

Mechanics repaired the leak and pronounced the plane in first class condition when he departed. The engine was running perfectly.

On his arrival here Maughan had lost six minutes from his scheduled time since leaving St. Joseph, Mo. The speed king leaped from his plane and rushed to a hasty lunch of bananas, coffee and sandwiches.

Roars of applause greeted Maughan when he stepped from the cockpit. Refueling of the machine began almost the instant the steel bullet came to a halt.

When he landed a serious leak was discovered in the lubricating system of his plane. He reported that this first developed about one and one-half hours before he arrived.

Fumes from the leak have made him sick. He was so sick immediately after landing that he laid down on a canvas near his machine.

Mechanics are working vigorously to repair the leak, but at 3:10 o'clock could not state how long a delay the repair would make necessary.

The leak was in the oil tank and oil cooler of the motor. As he stepped from the machine Maughan said: "I think it is all over; there is something the matter with the oil."

At 3:15 he expressed determination to attempt to finish the flight. Mechanics feared further repairs would be necessary at Salduro although the machine was then in good shape.

Pilots at the air field field expressed the opinion that Maughan could not reach San Francisco before nine o'clock.

Maughan was still suffering acutely from the effects of oil fumes when he took to the air at 3:27 p. m.

BALBOA YOUTH FOUND GUILTY BY JURYMEN

(Special to The Register)

NEWPORT BEACH, July 19.—George Wilson, son of Joel Wilson of Balboa, this morning was found guilty of disturbing the peace by a jury in Police Judge Byron Hall's court here and fined $10. His father paid the fine.

The jury was composed of Frank Claudina, H. E. Cushing, Charles Fox, George Solomon, J. H. Sharp, J. W. Milner, B. F. Loper, D. E. Moore, Ira Dinger, C. W. Raymond, H. J. Bell and William Ridner.

Witnesses for the people were L. L. Garrigues, J. K. Bartlett and Deputy Marshal W. A. Wilcox, who arrested young Wilson. Bartlett was also put on the stand by the defense.

Wilson was accused of disturbing the peace July 8 by throwing a firecracker into a Balboa cafe. After he was arrested he charged that the police had "wet him down" with a hose. The charges were hotly denied by City Marshal J. A. Porter who claimed Wilson had broken a water pipe himself. The matter of the "third degree" was not gone into at the trial this morning.

Clyde Bishop, city attorney, appeared for Newport Beach. Mr. Coffman, member of a Santa Ana law firm, represented the defendant. A large crowd attended.

Will Handle Market Quotations Promptly

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Market quotations subject to sudden fluctuations, the value of which would be destroyed if delayed in the mails, will be promptly handled in post offices even though mailed under third class cover, according to instructions issued to postmasters by Postmaster General New. The procedure is designed to bring farmers and produce raisers in closer touch with rural markets so as to assist them in timing the movement of their crops.

FRONTIER DAYS SEEN AGAIN IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 19.—Frontier days in the Middle West, the days of Indian battles, Conestago wagons and the rush to the California gold field, are depicted in an exhibition opened for the summer by the Chicago Historical Society.

One of the exhibits covered wagon used by William Gladden and his family to come West from Baltimore to Deersville, O., in 1811 and again in 1849 to travel from the Ohio settlement to California. The society has placed the wagon before a reproduction of a pioneer cabin standing "where the early settler might have left it for the night."

In this frontier yard also are implements used by Illinois farmers, some of them dating as far back as 1830. Utensils of the housewife of 1840 are arranged on the cabin porch.

The collection of Addison Ballard, an early Chicagoan, also is included. Addison was the first to leave Chicago when news of the discovery of gold in California reached this section. His first diggings were saved and made into a ring, which the society acquired recently.

About 300 rifles, all of which were used in the Middle West in pioneer days, are displayed. Other exhibits explain methods used by the early settlers to combat the Indians.

Remarkable interest in early history of the central section of the United States is being shown by the public officials of the Chicago society say. This, they attribute to the large number of novels and motion pictures of early days.

Forest Reserves In East Are Extended

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The national forest reservation commission has authorized the purchase of 11,457 acres in eight Eastern states for national forest purposes. Approximately half of this amount was purchased within the boundaries of the Allegheny river national forest, located in Pennsylvania. One thousand acres were purchased in West Virginia, at the headwaters of the Monongahela river; 877 acres in the headwaters of the James river in Virginia and 1,585 acres in the headwaters of the Catawba river in North Carolina.

BIRDMAN IN RACE AGAINST OLD SOL

sun, Lieut. Russell Maughan, who ate breakfast in New York and hopes to dine in San Francisco tonight, left Rosecrans flying field here at 12:03 p. m. today.

He stood up in the tiny cockpit of the Curtiss pursuit plane and bowed a farewell to the crowd of thousands gathered here, as mechanics started the propellers. He waved his hand as the plane shot skyward, headed for Cheyenne, the third stop in the attempted transcontinental flight between dawn and dusk.

Maughan was very tired and rested during most of the 36 minutes stop here.

The Curtiss plane came down from the sky like a great silver bullet at 11:27 a. m., making the successful completion of the first half of his race with the sun across the continent.

Maughan was 57 minutes behind schedule on arrival here. Striving desperately to make up the delay, he maintained a speed of nearly 100 miles an hour until the wheels of his little plane skimmed the smooth surface of the flying field.

He cleared the two legs of the flight from New York to St. Joseph in 8 hours and 19 minutes, including a 30 minute stop at Dayton.

Before turning to a pile of sandwiches on a nearby table, Maughan gave his plane a hasty examination. He pronounced it fit for the final dangerous dash across the Rockies in his attempt to fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific between dawn and dusk.

"We got the Indian sign on the jinx this time," he said. "I hope the boys in Frisco have ordered a good meal, because I am sure going to be hungry about 8 p. m."

The aviator said the plane was "working like a top."

He plainly showed the nervous and physical strain of dashing across the sky at a speed of more than 165 miles an hour, which he averaged for the 1,330 miles from New York to St. Joseph.

MAUGHAN BEHIND SCHEDULE ON LEAVING DAYTON

MCCOOK FIELD, Dayton, O., July 19.—His motor roaring steadily above the cheering of a huge crowd, Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan at 8:55 a. m., today took off for St. Joseph, Mo., on the second leg of his attempt to span the continent between dawn and dusk.

The silvery Curtiss pursuit plane, its gasoline and oil tanks refueled for the flight, shot straight westward without stopping to circle the field.

Maughan was approximately one hour behind schedule, having lost 55 minutes en route here from New York and five minutes preparing for his second start westward.

Maughan ended the first leg of his flight when he landed his plane on McCook Field at 8:33 a. m.

"The going's great—a little foggy, but not bad," he said.

HEAD OF S. A. LIONS GIVEN HIGH HONOR

Upon his return from Atlantic City, where he represented the Santa Ana Den at the national convention of the Lions clubs, Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, at the meeting of the Lions club at St. Ann's Inn today, was greeted as deputy governor for the fourth district of Lions clubs. His appointment was made at the convention.

Dr. Rowland reached home at 11 a. m. He will present his convention report at the meeting of the club next Thursday. Mrs. Rowland remained in the East for a visit with relatives.

E. L. Morrison, who has just returned from a visit to Alaska, was the speaker today. He declared that mines and forests there offered wonderful opportunities for capital and labor. Lack of cheap transportation, he asserted, is one thing that is retarding the development of the North.

Maurice Phillips entertained with a number of vocal solos. J. M. Cloyes was chairman of the program committee.

VENTURA COAST SCENE OF BIG BOOZE RAID

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 19.—Charged with attempting to land a shipload of Canadian liquor on the Ventura coast, Oscar Lund, C. C. Newton, C. Blazier and P. Mackey and J. E. Allen were arrested by federal prohibition officers and jailed here today.

The officers said that several of the men were among those arrested in the sensational Long Beach raid a short time ago, who are now out on $25,000 bond pending trial in federal court in Los Angeles. Officers charge the men are members of the international liquor ring.

A large quantity of liquor was seized. The men are held on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and were jailed without privilege of bail pending their transportation to Los Angeles.

OPENS WAR ON COUNTY TRUCK TAX DODGERS

Automobile or truck owners who have neglected to pay their county tax on "unsecured personal property" need not be surprised to find an attachment filed on their machines one of these bright mornings, County Assessor James Sleeper announced today.

Sleeper made it plain that his office intends to "smoke" the motor tax dodgers out of their retreats. After repeated notices regarding tax payments, Sleeper has launched a drive against the delinquents, he stated.

An example cited by the assessor was in the case of a Los Angeles concern operating a fleet of trucks at Fullerton. Two notices that $340 in taxes was due on the trucks, which were assessed at $8,000, failed to bring a response, so Sleeper visited Fullerton late yesterday and placed an attachment against one of the trucks.

Today his office was in receipt of the desired payment.

NAMES COMMITTEE FOR COUNTY FLOAT

Dr. J. D. Thomas, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, today announced the appointment of a committee to assume full charge of the development of a float for the Los Angeles pageant being arranged as a feature of Southern California's reception to President Harding, August 2.

The committee is composed of George Raymer, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce; J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber; Malcolm Fraser, secretary at Anaheim; V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Chamber at Orange, and Dr. W. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent.

The committee has been requested by Dr. Thomas to meet in Santa Ana next Monday noon at luncheon, the place to be designated later.

Thomas said that it was his desire to have Santa Ana represented by a float that would be a credit to the county. He said money was assured for the construction of a high-class entry.

WORK IS BEGUN ON 'PENINSULA' ROADS

Work of constructing a broad highway to traverse the famed peninsula at Balboa, and connect that recently opened beach community with the town of Balboa and Southern California generally has been begun and will be rushed to early completion, the Blankenhorn Realty company, which recently placed the peninsula on the market, announced here today.

The artery now in course of construction is the first of a comprehensive system of streets that will girdle the tract. All will be of concrete, and will permit of residents at the peninsula to drive their cars to the water's edge, either on Newport bay or the Pacific ocean. The peninsula is at the junction of these two waterways.

Completion of the first section of the streets will also permit of immediate work on several homes contemplated at the Peninsula, as it will afford "easier access" for trucks hauling building materials, according to H. L. Butler, sales manager at the tract for the Blankenhorn company. Before the first home is built the necessary utilities such as gas, water and electricity, will be installed and immediately available to the "pioneers."

Price Is Problem
Pointing out the many processes merchandise passes through before reaching the consumer, the speaker said that the greatest problem confronting retail men today is to sell quality goods at the lowest price consistent with good business policy.

He declared that price appeal in advertising is destructive. In his opinion advertisements should be so written as to create a demand for the article advertised, because of the service it will give, rather than attempt to appeal to the prospective purchaser by quoting a price.

Miss Holly Lash, popular with Santa Ana audiences, entertained with two readings and a local selection. In the latter she was accompanied by Mrs. Loren Hurd.

Declares Truthful
Advertising Brings
Reward in Business

"Truthful advertising has a real cash-drawer value."

Fifty business men and women of Santa Ana today were reflecting on this thought, emphasized at the meeting, at St. Ann's Inn last night, of the Santa Ana Advertising club by Don Francisco of Los Angeles, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and known throughout Orange county as director, for a number of years, of the advertising campaign of the California Fruit Growers' exchange.

Men who are leaders in the field of expert advertising were guests of the club; each outlined the purposes and accomplishments of similar club organization.

Organized primarily for the promotion of truthful advertising, the club program includes active participation in local civic affairs and development of the community in which a club is located.

Other Speakers Famed
In addition to Francisco, the club's guests were T. M. R. Keane, past president of the Pacific Coast Advertising clubs association and director of advertising for Culberson's, Spokane, Wash.; Miss Ethel Comstock, Chicago and Bert Butterworth, past president of the Los Angeles Advertising club and past president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs' association.

Recounting that advertising was detrimentally exploited by circus managements and patent medicine concerns, because of gross insincerity, Francisco said that today it had become one of the greatest forces in social and commercial life.

Keane discussed at some length the value of a better business bureau, operated as a feature of advertising club activity, pointing out that this bureau saved the public many million dollars by investigating stock selling schemes. He declared the bureau has been effective elsewhere, in the elimination of much dishonest advertising.

Statements made in advertisements of all kinds are investigated, if warranted, he said.

Investors Often "Hooked"
He asserted that within the past ten years, Pacific coast investors had sent East $150,000,000 for investment in promotion propositions, many of which had no merit. Of that amount, less than $500,000 had been invested in securities that returned dividends, he ventured.

Investigations by these bureaus are saving $6,000,000 annually to California investors, it was declared.

He suggested organization by the local club of a study circle, to meet once a week—an open forum at which business men could study and discuss their business problems.

"The Santa Ana club should be a leader and a supporter of every worthwhile civic project," Keane added. "No club is worthy of operation if it does not accomplish something."

He declared truthful advertising would enlarge the trading zone of any community.

Declares Price Cutting
"What a wonderful asset it would be to have Santa Ana known as a city in which the business men are truthful in their advertising," continued the speaker. "With such a reputation, outside patronage would be attracted to the city."

Pointing out that $22,000,000,000 is spent annually in retail stores of the United States, Butterworth said that in the past some merchants have looked upon advertising as a means of eliminating a competitor, with price cutting as one of the policies adopted as a means.

"Advertising is creative and constructive, and should not be employed in an effort to tear down the business of a competitor," he added.

"Price cutting inherently is not good business. It educates the people to want more for their money. Advertising is a creative force and, correctly employed, is a business producer."

E. GUZZLE OF L. A. PAYS BOOZE FINE

E. Guzzle, Los Angeles, appeared before Justice J. B. Cox today, charged with having liquor in his possession. Guzzle and two companions, G. W. Campbell and J. C. Fowler, also of Los Angeles, were each fined $200.

There was no evidence that any liquor had been guzzled, but officers declare they found five pints of it in possession of the trio, who were arrested late last night in Trabuco canyon by W. E. Adkinson, county game warden, who followed the ndown a dim canyon trail fearing that they might carelessly start a forest fire should they stop to camp.

Sheriff S. A. McJernigan, Under Sheriff E. E. French, Deputy Ed. McClellan and Constable J. L. Elliott responded to a telephone call from Adkinson and went out after the prisoners.

Young People Give Cannibal Isle Play

BUENA PARK, July 19.—Miss Thelma O'Neill of Tenth street, is spending two weeks in Taft as the guest of her uncle, G. D. Christian, and her brother, Otis Fulghum.

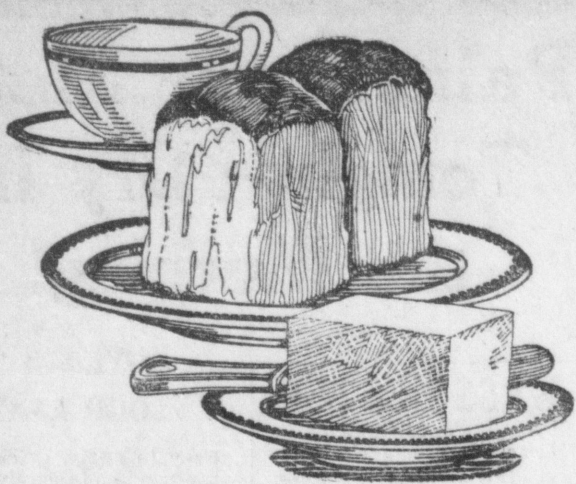

The Golden Rule Sunday school class entertained with a "Flipper-Flapper" party Tuesday evening at the community hall. As each one entered he was tagged with his name and a nursery rhyme. These rhymes were later acted out and proved very entertaining. Miss Florence Schofield added to the pleasure of the evening by singing "Little Brown Owl," and "Two Magpies."

For an encore she offered "Angiefood cake." An impromptu play, "King of the Cannibal Islands," was much enjoyed. The characters were Misses Florence Schofield and Margaret Nelson, footlights; Hester Jaynes and Betty Berkey, curtains; Harold Thurman and Miss Helene Teeter, scenery; Lester Schofield, "King of the Cannibal Island;" Eunice Mann, Queen, wife of the King of the Cannibal Islands; Beulah Nelson, Arabella, daughter of the King of the Cannibal Islands; Robert Spohn, "Rudolph," the suitor of Arabella, the daughter of "the King and Queen of the Cannibal Islands."

Sherbert and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Claud Porter of Fullerton, are rejoicing over the arrival of a little son, Wednesday morning at the Johnson sanitarium. Mrs. Porter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson of the Park.

Mrs. Frank Heaton underwent a Caesarean operation in the Johnson sanitarium Tuesday. Both mother and little son are doing nicely.

Miss M. E. Heostink, a graduate nurse and a teacher of hygiene in the Anaheim high school, is assisting Dr. Johnson in the sanitarium.

"ONLY 38" HAS REAL PROPS

Two motor trucks were required to transport 75,000 books, the largest individual order ever filled, to the Famous Players-Lasky studio at Hollywood, Calif., where they became an integral part of the setting for important scenes in "Only 38," William de Mille's new Paramount production, featuring May McAvoy, Lois Wilson, Elliott Dexter and George Fawcett, which will be displayed at the West End theater.

An entire book store on Main street and a good part of another on Seventh avenue in Los Angeles were drained to supply the books necessary to fill eighty-eight shelves in the library with a total of 9,000 square feet of space.

Eight men spent two hours removing the books from the trucks. Two more men were seven hours putting them on the shelves. Their total value is $40,000.

The largest book of the 75,000 is a Narrative and Critical History of America. It has 3,000 pages and is 18 inches long by 10 inches in width. The smallest book was a selection of Tennyson's poems. It is 4 inches by 2 inches and contains 18 pages.

Miss Wilson, who reads a great deal, spent hours going over the volumes and was rewarded with an almost priceless find—an old volume of Charles Dickens' works, a valuable book, which she purchased for almost nothing.

The entire assortment had to be chosen by the property department, under Mr. de Mille's supervision, with the utmost care, since certain bindings, because of the colors, have poor photographic value.

"WHAT WIVES WANT" BEGINS AT PRINCESS TODAY
A cast of stellar players presents "What Wives Want," the Universal all-star attraction, which comes to the Princess theater starting Friday.

"What Wives Want" centers around a present-day marital problem that is largely responsible for the grinding of the divorce mill. It concerns a husband who is too busy making money to give his wife the attention that she thinks she deserves, and in consequence she looked elsewhere for this attention. A younger sister, who, strangely enough, acts as a mother to the elder, steps in at a critical moment and saves her from an act of folly but is herself crucified on the cross of suspicion.

The story is said to be widely removed from the usual triangle situation and the perfection of the cast promises a most satisfying performance. Ethel Grey Terry plays the part of the wife who, but for the interference of the sister, would have passed the brink of propriety. Margaret Landis plays the sister. Niles Welch and Vernon Steele, both leading men of rare ability, appear as the husbands of the two sisters, while Ramsey Wallace, a past master of screen villainy, is "the other man."

VAMPIRE FEATURED IN "A FOOL THERE WAS" AT TEMPLE

When Rudyard Kipling wrote "The Vampire" he little thought that it would some day be the terror of the screen. Yesterday here yesterday at the Temple theater, and scored a popular hit, Irene Rich, Muriel Frances Dana, an entirely new version produced by William Fox, with Estelle Taylor and Lewis S. Stone. Almost everyone has at one time or other read Kipling's poetic description of the woman who strip men of their wealth and honor and then cast them aside, but Estelle Taylor's screen version of the vampire surpasses anything in that line heretofore done on the silver sheet.

The great financial power of Wall street sneered contemptuously when he saw a young man commit suicide over the vampire as he was about to sail for Europe, and he little thought that he would soon sacrifice his own family, friends and honor for the fascinating woman. However, he succumbed to her charms and soon found himself in a web from which he could not escape.

Lewis S. Stone gives a remarkable characterization as one of the best things that he has done. The scenes in which the fool is shown trying to break away from the entrancing woman who holds him like a spell are exceptionally good.

The work of the supporting cast is excellent and the picture has many wonderful interior scenes. Marjorie Daw, Mahlon Hamilton, Wallace McDonald, William V. Mong and Harry Lonsdale are the others who make up the cast.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA RANCHO PICTURE TO RUN AT TEMPLE

"The Man Next Door," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," "North of 36" and "The Mississippi Bubble," which will be seen at the Temple theater next week will have one of the best casts ever assembled.

Vitaphone engaged Victor Schertzinger, who directed Charles Ray, Mabel Normand, Madge Kennedy and Tom Moore, to produce "The Man Next Door," and placed at the disposal of Schertzinger its enormous studios at Hollywood and told him to go ahead without regard for expense.

The story deals with life on a ranch and in society in a city. The contrasts in background and environment offered by these two distinctly different locations gave Director Schertzinger the broadest opportunity in filming a variety of scenes and sets.

The action in the West was shot at Palo Verde ranch, in Southern California, one of the few remaining open range grazing ranches in the country. The owners of the ranch placed at the disposal of the director for use in scenes their staff of cow-punchers, as well as the 5,000 head of cattle on the ranch.

"GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST" REAL WESTERN CLASSIC AT YOSTS

Made doubly fascinating by the elimination of the usual scenes which have made too many Western plays more or less monotonous, Edwin Carewe's picturization of "The Girl of the Golden West," a First National production, began its showing at the Yost theater last night and was enthusiastically greeted.

As a rule, Western dramas, especially those which depict life of the gold rush days, are over-crowded with cheap, meaningless melodrama which leaves no impression upon the mind and does not really entertain. In "The Girl of the Golden West," however, Director Carewe has, as he did in "Mighty Lak a Rose," brought in the strong, human touches and developed the old romance of the famous Belasco stage triumph in a way that holds one's undivided attention from the first title to the last flash.

First of all, "The Girl of the Golden West" has no Broadway cowboys, no Indian, no running gun fights and no pretense. It seems really Western, and though it carries us back to the days when grandpa was a youngster, still it is not difficult to "live" right along with the characters on the screen.

This is a gambling story and the incidents that lead up to the time when the heroine (Sylvia Breamer) plays cards with the sheriff (Russell Simpson) for the life of the bandit she loves (J. Warren Kerrigan) and the action during the tense moments of the game are handled with the finesse of a real cinema artist. All three principal characters reach dramatic heights in enacting their difficult parts.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others, took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let the world everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed our agents to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. C. S. Kelly Drug Store will supply you.—adv.

and Rosemary Theby as Nina also merits praise for her several important bits in the production.

Several score of real California pioneers participate in the action of the play and many of the historic landmarks of the gold rush days are visible in the background of various scenes.

The mountain scenery is indeed refreshing and the picture runs its length without a lax moment and obviously without padding.

STIRRING SITUATIONS IN "THE CRITICAL AGE" AT YOST SUNDAY ONLY.

"The Critical Age," a Shipman-Hodkinson production picturized from Ralph Connor's "Glengarry Schoolboys," is the scheduled attraction at the Yost theater next Sunday.

It is the story of a young dreamer, a poor farmer's son, whose ambition is to go to college. A rival enters the scene and begins monopolizing the girl, which causes the other boy to have a decided awakening. He rescues the girl from death in the rapids and later he helps her father, a member of Parliament, save his political prestige after falling in a trap set by his political opponents.

A massive dog plays one of the important roles in the production and adds thrill upon thrill to the story. All of the scenes have been taken upon the exact location, as called for by the novel and all of Ralph Connor's popular characterizations and details have been supplied. Nothing has been lost with the result that "The Critical Age" promises to be one of the best productions seen at the Yost theater for some time.

"The Critical Age" was directed by Henry McRae. The cast is composed of Pauline Garon, James Harrison, Harlan Knight, Wallace Ray and others.

SPECTACULAR PICTURE TO RUN AT TEMPLE SHOT IN ITALY

There are exterior scenes of great beauty taken in the country near Rome that add fresh interest to "Nero," the William Fox super-special which is booked for the Temple Theater for three days, commencing tomorrow.

The entire picture was made in Italy under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards, and over a year was spent in completing it. It contains about everything that goes into a historical picture of this nature and has a strong plot, numerous sensations, plenty of thrills and an acting cast of the first rank. Most of the actors were obtained in France and Italy and are exceptionally well suited to their respective characters.

In magnitude of production and perfection of detail "Nero" has never been equaled on the screen. Its reception by the press and public wherever shown has been flattering in the extreme.

SAYS INCENDIARISM NOT WOBBLIES' ACT

Although having confessed, it was asserted, to starting fires at packing plants and at various other buildings in Southern California cities, F. B. Padilla, held at the county jail here pending arraignment in the superior court on a charge of arson, steadfastly refused today to admit connection with the I. W. W., or to acknowledge that any radicals had a hand in his alleged operations.

The authorities are at a loss as to the man's motive in starting the fires. Whether his asserted acts were committed, as he was said to have explained, for the sake of excitement, or at the instigation of radicals, they are unable to determine.

Padilla was said to have stated that he learned the tactics from the I. W. W., whose members, he was quoted as saying, taught him to use oily waste from freight car journal boxes in igniting the fires; but no admission that he is now connected with the organization can be drawn from him.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson is pushing preparations to arraign Padilla in court as soon as possible.

EVER IRVINE RANCH 'PROMOTER' 'BROKE'

Although he promised, according to federal authorities, that great returns would be available for those who followed his advice to file homestead claims on the huge Irvine ranch in this county, Dr. William R. Price, Los Angeles psychologist, today is in straitened circumstances and is unable to pay his wife more than $5 a week, pending the trial of Mrs. Price's suit for divorce, his court plea averred.

Charged by his wife with "breaking the monotony of married life" by bringing other women to their home, Price, appearing before Judge Summerfield in Los Angeles, declared that the financial tide had been at low ebb, as far as he was concerned, adding that the psychology business had suffered a decided slump.

Federal authorities, determined to end the practices of those who were asserted to have accepted Dr. Price's advice to file claims on the Irvine ranch, threatened a grand jury investigation of the case.

Betrothals Weddings Receptions

Wedding Day of 1876 Celebrated by Happy Family

To celebrate the forty-seventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McDannald, thirty members of the family, including children, grand-children and great-grand-children, met last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jessee on Bristol road and enjoyed a royal repast of many courses. Lovely garden flowers adorned the home and an evening of happy chat followed, chat in which early experiences in the "Biggest little county in the state" took a prominent part, for a large majority of those present were natives of Orange county and have taken an active part in her development. Showing loving wishes and congratulations on the splendid couple who were bride and groom on July 18, 1876, were their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jessee and family, Mr. and Mrs. McDannald's daughter from Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Vincent and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Guyann and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Weber and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Layton and family and Mr. S. M. Guyann.

Northerners Enjoy Santa Ana's Charm

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Foster of San Francisco, have been touring the southern part of the state and spent some time in Santa Ana visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Baker, 1112 French street. Mr. and Mrs. Baker formerly lived in San Francisco and were long time friends of the Fosters, who are spending their vacation in a leisurely way, taking in points of interest from San Francisco and San Diego. They are delighted with the southern country and particularly Santa Ana and vicinity. Mr. Baker is secretary of the Orange County By-Products company and office manager of the California Crate company.

Guests from Minnesota To Enjoy Picnic at Laguna Beach

Recent arrival from Waterford, Minnesota, of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Howland to join Mrs. D. Childs of Northfield, Minnesota in a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howland of 1416 French street, has offered motif for many happy events calling together former Northfield folk who now reside in Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howland with their son Richard, are new comers from the Minnesota city but have purchased their home on French street and plan to make this their permanent residence. They were greeted by a number of friends all of whom will join in a "Northfield" picnic at Laguna Beach Saturday with the visitors as honor guests. The Livingstons, Lasbys, Hurlburts, Bonhams and Freemans will join the Howlands in the event and a happy day at "Our Village" is anticipated. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Freeman of 2527 Santiago street, were dinner hosts recently in honor of the guests who enjoyed a happy social evening following the delectable course dinner for which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howland, Richard Howland, Mrs. D. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Almon Howland and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman.

Ohio Picnic Plans Promise Gay Affair

In planning for the success of the first annual Orange county Ohio Society picnic to be held at Orange county park Thursday afternoon and evening, July 26, officers of the society have requested that all those having room in their automobiles for extra passengers as well as those desiring transportation to the park, telephone the secretary, Mrs. Robert R. Shafer, 266. If each one telephoning will specify the time they hope to leave for the park it will materially aid the transportation committee in filling the cars, it was stated.

Plans for the event are progressing splendidly and every indication points to a record-breaking crowd of Buckeyes to gather at the famous picnic ground and reminisce of days "back home" as they enjoy the contents of well-filled picnic baskets (Did you ever taste Ohio cherry pie made by a real Ohio cook?)

Summer Evening Gowns Built on Simple Lines of Diaphanous Materials Appeal to My Lady

COPYRIGHT BY M. CALLS

While the summer social whirl in Santa Ana is by no means the giddy one that winter brings, yet with smart little evening bridges which the younger married set enjoys, and the exceedingly pleasant dancing and card parties which alternate at bi-weekly intervals at the country club, Milady must see to it that her wardrobe contains one or two spiffy little evening frocks. These must not be too elaborate for after all, simplicity is the keynote of summer entertaining, and every sensible hostess sounds that keynote in the frock in which she receives her guests. Naturally the well-bred guest follows suit. Like dancing frocks for winter wear, chiffon and the soft georgette will always be in high favor, but organdy is an ideal material for its crispness gives the effect of freshness no matter how many Paul Jones and waltz circles are indulged in. It is said by an eastern style authority that eight out of ten summer evening gowns are built of chiffon, organdy or like diaphanous material, over slips of silk or the popular and lovely metal cloth. The other two of the specified ten will be of sheer lace and beaded. White is always popular as is black, but always in transparent effects. Rose and red (the latter with the smart red slippers so much in evidence now) Lavender green, soft "Quaker" grey and mountain haze are among the favored colors.

Young Ladies Sodality

All members and co-workers of the Young Ladies' Sodality are to gather at the Liebermann home, 612 French street, tonight, for a final meeting before the carnival and everybody is expected to be present and report individually. The Sodality wishes to announce to the public that it is presenting the annual carnival on the grounds of St. Joseph's school, on Lacy and Stafford streets, July 25 and 26, when a home-cooked supper is to be served on the grounds. The Knights of Columbus will entertain the crowd in the open with several performances. The Knights "little bit" at each year's carnival is quite an attraction, and this year will be no exception. The young women suggest that the troupe of pretty girls who will entertain during the supper hours, mustn't be forgotten, for "a merry meal is well digested." Housewives are also reminded of the good home-made aprons of every color and pattern to be found in the apron and towel booth. Fat, slim, short and tall women need not fear, for there are aprons to fit everybody. Some very attractive prizes are to be given away to those on the grounds who hold lucky numbers both evenings. An artistic pair of book ends have been donated by the Ashby-Daugherty Furniture company. O'Donnell's millinery has put up an attractive fall hat in the new felt. The Park Drug store offers some fine Hudnut's toilet water and a gentleman's prize.

MERIT OF TEXTILE INDUSTRY IS CITED

The Otis company, textile manufacturers of Ware and Palmer, Mass., has maintained an uninterrupted dividend record of 8 per cent or better since 1840, or for 83 years. The present rate is 10 per cent, and the company has recently authorized a 100 per cent dividend. The average in earnings available for dividends to the stockholders for the past few years has been about $300,000 a year. Growth of business of the Otis company has been financed entirely from the plants' earnings. "The foregoing is recognized as fact and this is only one example of the stability and dependability of the textile industry," S. L. Dean, textile expert and organizer of the Santa Ana Woolen Mills in Santa Ana, stated today. With the opening of our plant in a few days, Santa Ana undoubtedly will see the beginning of one of the solidest foundations of the city's future prosperity.

Laddies Enjoy Frolic When 'Rinky Dinks' Have Meeting

Bluebirds of happiness were very much in evidence at the home of Master Frank Cron, 1102 North Spurgeon street, yesterday afternoon when the laddies were host to a club of small boys of the Jefferson school district who choose to call themselves the "Rinky Dinks." The club was formed during the school year and has met at intervals of two weeks during the vacation period. With Frank's turn to entertain, the laddies were treated to what they called "a regular party" with all sorts of merry games directed by their young host's mother, Mrs. David R. Cron. Following the afternoon's frolic the youngsters were asked to the diningroom where a pretty decorative effect was attained by the use of bluebirds and where ice cream and cake were served to the enjoyment of the group composed of Frank and his playmates, the Masters Edward Roth, Billy Stefens, Andrew Ainslie, Jack Gridley, Dick Pinkerton and Jack McCarty.

Vacationers Seek Lake Mono

Santa Ana friends have received word that the camping trip upon which Dr. and Mrs. Roy Horton and their two active small sons, the Masters Shelley and Dick Horton recently embarked, was proving all that fancy had painted. With their automobile fully equipped for out-of-door life, the vacationers took their departure over a week ago, planning on "getting back to nature" by way of Lake Mono and a fully planned fishing and hunting trip with a radio outfit as their sole concession to the demands of civilization. They will be gone at least another week.

Pomona Pair Wedded In This City

Choosing Santa Ana as the scene of their romantic nuptials, Miss Vera Woodard, member of the 1924 graduating class of Pomona high school and John Neilson, successful young business man of Monrovia were wedded here late last week.

The bride was attractively gowned in white georgette crepe with a clever little close fitting white hat. She was attended by Miss Elvira Gresham as bridesmaid while Chris Nielson, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The young people returned to Pomona for parental approval of their marriage and were received with open arms evidenced by a series of happy family gatherings. They will later go to Monrovia where a pretty home is all in readiness for their coming.

Why This Doctor Advices HOKARA

Says It Gives Instant Relief in Many Skin Troubles. It is not often that a doctor comes right out and endorses any preparation but when he does you may be sure it is something out of the ordinary. Read what Dr. Johnson, skin specialist, says about HOKARA, the antiseptic, astringent, greaseless cream: "For over twenty-five years in my practice I have used many kinds of preparations called 'skin foods' but never until I found HOKARA did I see such beautiful and satisfactory results. I use it on all my patients. It cleanses the skin and makes it soft and fresh looking, producing firmness and giving power to the tissues. All those to whom I have recommended it are delighted with its use." If you suffer with skin trouble so that the itching seems almost unbearable and the skin is so broken out that you are sensitive about your appearance, don't think it necessary to use some greasy vile smelling ointment or salve. Just go to your druggist and get a bottle of HOKARA. C. S. Kelley Drug Store can supply you.—Adv.

Birthday Anniversary Is Occasion for Happy Party

Plans for the observance of the birthday anniversary of H. Henry Jackson, 510 West Fifth street, were made with such secrecy that a party of friends assembling at his home last night, took him completely by surprise as they offered congratulations upon the attainment of his seventy-first birthday. However Mr. Jackson rose to the occasion and aided his guests in a thorough enjoyment of the happy evening to which music and cards offered interest. At a late hour appetizing refreshments were served by pre-arrangement upon the part of the guests. Enjoying the affair with the host were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lipscombe, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. F. Waite, Mrs. Clara Andrews and daughter Ruth and the Misses Minnie and Rose Young.

Busy Nurses Lay Aside Duties For Outing at Beach

A happy group of young women, members of the Community hospital nursing staff, yesterday laid aside their becoming uniforms, professional dignity and grave responsibilities and motored to Huntington Beach, there to enjoy a refreshing romp in the breakers, snapshots on the sands and a dip in the plunge. Just at sunset they seated themselves on the sands for the enjoyment of a bountiful picnic supper to which jokes and merry conversation gave added sauce. Rested and refreshed, they returned as darkness fell, to take up again the care of the city's ill, wounded and distressed.

Those enjoying the outing in addition to the superintendent, Miss Edith Patton, were the Misses Hanson, Eisner, Santa, Eskew, Clara Rutledge, Emma Peck and Janice Reed.

OCEAN BOTTOM OFF PIER IS FLAT, SHOWN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Soundings taken off the municipal pier here yesterday, under the direction of City Engineer Louis F. Gates, who acted under orders of the city council, revealed that the bed of the ocean off from the pier is nearly flat, and that the proposed extension to make the wharf serviceable for seagoing vessels may be 4000 feet long.

No Jump Off Found
Several signers of the petition which asked the city council to investigate the possibility of extending the pier so that the Catalina boats could pick up passengers here and that the oil tankers might secure the product of the local fields were of the opinion that there was a sudden drop just off the pier.

There will be further investigation before he makes his report to the city council, Mr. Gates said. One matter to be looked into is that of determining whether the bed of the ocean off the pier is sufficiently solid to permit the sinking of heavy piling to support the extension.

Dredging May Help
Whether dredging will be necessary will depend entirely upon the investigation of the ocean bed by the engineering department, it was said.

LEGION AUXILIARY GETS NEW MEMBERS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—The Santa Ana officers of the Women's auxiliary to the American Legion post will be present and assist in the initiation of a number of new recruits at the meeting of the local auxiliary Friday night.

Recently, when the charter was threatened by the lack of interest on the part of the wives, sisters, mothers and daughters of ex-service men here the women gathered and injected new life into the organization. The work was pushed by Joseph Rodman post of the American Legion.

"Yarns" Told at Camp Ground By Travelers Bristle With Interest

By Charles Crawford
HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—After crossing rugged mountain ranges or nosing their way over the burning desert sands the automobile tourists roll into Huntington Beach all day long to seek the comforts of the city auto parking center.

The Great Middle Class
Some come to remain in Huntington Beach, some are itinerant workers who ply their trade a few days and move on but the majority come from the middle class homes of the forty-eight states in the old flivver.

Bristling with human interest are the stories these travelers tell. Many of them have toured the country for years—some because of the lure of the road, some in quest of health and others in search of relatives or the ideal spot for a home.

When these veteran travelers get together at the camp ground in the evening they discuss prohibition, presidential possibilities, the glories of the Iowa corn fields as compared to those of the Maine woods, each traveler upholding the alleged superiority of his particular section.

But it is when a story teller is launched upon his travels that the wonderful "yarns," as the editor calls them, come. They tell of the folks back home. What would they say if they could see the hundreds of huge oil derricks covering the landscape like spines of a great porcupine? Wouldn't Jim back in Willow Hollow love to stop his harvesting and take a dip in the ocean today. They tell of their experiences in the different camp grounds on the way across the continent, the hills that could be climbed and those that could not. They tell of their hardships and their pleasures.

Camp Ground Discovered
Little has been said of the camp ground of Huntington Beach. The Register representative "discovered" it this week and no more kindly and homely type of people could be found than were located out there. And they are all thankful for the conveniences. Many of them go back home to talk of Huntington Beach, "at the end of the journey."

Beach Life Guard Coaches Youths In Life Saving Work

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Valuable assistance has been rendered this season to Life Guard Harry Lee by "Bud Higgins and Gene Belshe, local boys, Lee said today. Lee has instructed the two youths in life-saving methods and expects soon to give them the Red Cross examination. Higgins is ten years old and Belshe twelve years old.

In commenting upon the work of the life guard manager Barlow of the local plunge, said: "We have one of the best life guards on the coast. Death by drowning here is rare."

In his spare time Lee keeps himself in condition by boxing at the athletic club. He has taken part in several smokers already this year. Tomorrow night he will meet Frank Galtion of Santa Ana in a four-round melee.

SIX TEACHERS ARE EMPLOYED AT HIGH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Three teachers have resigned, six new teachers are to be employed and a bungalow to care for the surplus pupils will be built this summer near the Huntington Beach high school, it was learned today.

The teachers who resigned are Miss Elizabeth McKinney, who will teach English in the Pasadena high school; Robert M. Hager, who will teach in a Canton, China, school; W. A. Phelps, who will teach mathematics in Whittier high school.

New teachers employed are Raymond Elliott, mathematics; Miss Ryan, librarian; Miss McGill, English; Mr. Braybrook, coaching and manual training; Mr. Davidson, vice principal; Miss Benedict, girls' physical education.

There will be twenty-four members of the faculty this year, compared with twenty-one at the close of the last term. Over 400 pupils are expected to enroll this fall.

LABOR DAY TO BE OBSERVED FITTINGLY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Plans are well under way, and have received generous monetary support, for the celebration of Labor day at Huntington Beach this year.

Donations Made
This week saw the treasury enriched by $500 from the city council and a similar sum from the chamber of commerce. The program being prepared is said to be one of the most elaborate ever conceived for a Labor day observance in Southern California.

A parade, which may start from the Orange county harbor towns and lead down through Santa Ana to Huntington Beach, is one of the features. Cars would join the procession as it makes its way toward the festival city.

In Huntington Beach there would be athletic contests of various nature, swimming races, public speaking. The program for the celebration is to be outlined in full at the meeting of the celebration committee this evening.

Co-Operation Promised
According to local union heads the labor organizations over Orange county have responded well to the call for funds and insure the co-operation with the Huntington Beach workers from all quarters.

SEVERAL TREATED AT BEACH HOSPITAL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Several persons have been treated this week at the emergency hospital, according to the reports on file there this morning.

W. H. Lammar, 913 Oceanview avenue, who was thrown on his back when his glove caught in the belt of a rotary drilling machine, is now recovering, having only sustained severe bruises and a wrenched back. He will be kept from his work two or three weeks.

F. W. McVoy, of the McKeon Drilling company, mashed the index finger of his right hand when his finger was caught under his shovel when he was loading a dirt truck.

Several minor injuries were treated by Dr. R. E. Hawes.

WORK RUSHED ON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Construction work on the $250,000 thirty-room grammar school on the corner of Olive and Fourteenth streets is being rushed by Ridenour Brothers, contractors.

It is the intention of the board to have the new school ready for the fall term. During the last term of school classrooms were very crowded. An increase of considerable size is expected by Principal Clark H. Reid.

The foundations are now being poured. Work was started only a few days ago. One of the features of the new building will be a special primary room with special tables and clay modeling apparatus.

OIL NEWS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—What might appear to be slowing down of production in the local field is the result of the pinching in policy and not because the field has begun to slacken in any sense of the word, operators were unanimous in declaring here today.

The lack of pipeline and storage facilities has brought about the situation.

A new pipe line is now being laid by the Pan American Oil company from the local field to the company's refinery at San Pedro.

Many employees have been laid off by the larger companies. Many of the best producing wells are pinched down as far as possible. Tanks are full.

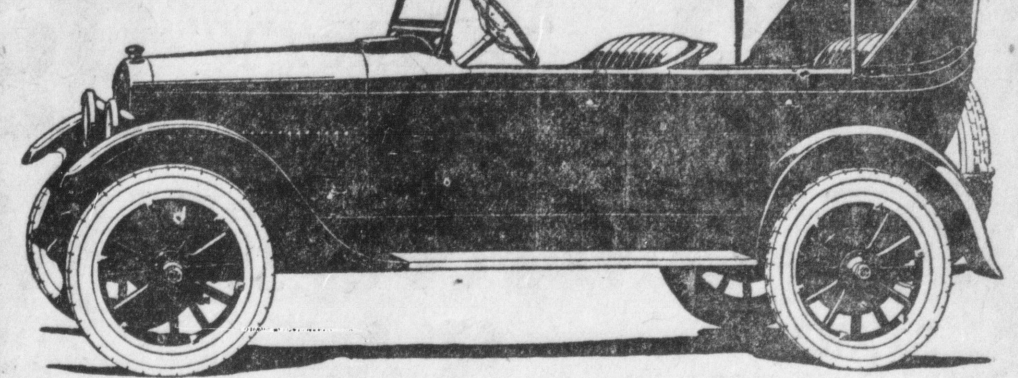

Monday the Holly Oil company laid off thirty men. They were taken from new wells drilling. One of these holes is said to have been down 3800 feet. The Holly company is also reported to have ceased drilling on the new well near the sugar factory.

About 120,000 barrels of oil a day is all that can be cared for daily, an operator said. Many months may elapse before plans for six new eight-inch pipelines can be carried out. In the meantime some of the big wells, like the Ashton of the Shell company, which could produce as much as 6000 barrels a day, has been cut to 2000 barrels a day.

Operators say that at the present rate of production the potential possibilities of this field should not be exhausted in less than twenty years.

Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car $1190

We Want to Talk to Every Prospect Who Plans to Pay More Than $500 for a Car

We want to tell you something about the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car. Want you to examine it—and to drive it.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, for less than $1,000 is an opportunity not duplicated anywhere in the world. Elimination of vibration adds immeasurably to the life of the motor. It is one of the reasons for the universal high resale value of the Light-Six.

The Touring Car body is all-steel—even to its framework. Seat cushions—of genuine leather—are ten inches deep and are placed at the most restful angle.

The one-piece windshield is handsome and practical because it gives unobstructed view of the road ahead and is rain-proof. The quick-action cowl ventilator and the parking lights are but indications of the quality and completeness of the appointments.

No other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six Touring Car. The savings resulting from large volume, complete manufacture and the fact that Studebaker's overhead is shared by three distinct models make possible its low price and high value.

The Light-Six upholds Studebaker's 71-year reputation for honest value.

WOMAN BITTEN BY SNAKE IS RECOVERING

Bitten by a snake concealed in a tree, on the W. A. Cornelius ranch at El Toro, Mrs. Apolinar Cuevas, West Fifth street, this city, today was recovering, following first-aid treatment by a Santa Ana physician.

According to Cornelius, Mrs. Cuevas was picking apricots from a low-hanging limb when the snake struck her at the base of the third finger on her left hand. Cornelius was inclined to believe the woman was bitten by a rattlesnake, although the attending physician was in doubt on this point.

"The woman's arm was tightly bandaged at the wrist and elbow by her husband and myself," said Cornelius, "and she was rushed to Santa Ana for treatment. Following emergency measures, which included opening and draining of the wound, she was pronounced out of danger, and proceeded to her home."

"Several rattlesnakes have been seen in the vicinity of El Toro this season. It is believed by those residing in the vicinity that the snakes were brought down from the mountains by the winter rains. As no one was with Mrs. Cuevas when she was struck, and the exact tree where she was picking fruit could not be located, the snake escaped."

Huge Sums Paid

Huge sums of money have been paid in recent years for the memoirs of certain celebrated people. But this is not an innovation in the literary world.

Winston Churchill was reported to get $3,000 pounds down for the life of his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, and Lord Morley got a check for 10,000 pounds for his "Life of Gladstone." Rudyard Kipling has often been paid as much as a shilling a word for a short story. It is said that Hall Caine parted with the rights of "The Christian" for $5,000 pounds, and it is certain that Marie Corelli has got at least as much for a novel.

Lord Macaulay got 20,000 pounds for his colossal "History of England," the demand for which was so great that the vans carrying it from the publishing office blocked the street. Lamartine got 20,000 pounds also for his history. Victor Hugo got 16,000 pounds for "Les Misérables," and Daudet cracked the record with 40,000 pounds for "Sapho."

Even poets have made money. Tom Moore asked and got 8,000 pounds for "Lalla Rookh," and Tennyson for many years made 5,000 pounds a year.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

S. A. SEVENTH RANKING CITY IN BUILDING ACTIVITIES IN SURVEY

Comparative Statistics Show City Favored in June Report

LOS ANGELES LEADS

Coast Has Maintained Progress According to Building Survey

According to a monthly building survey made by S. W. Strauss and company, San Francisco, only seven cities in California exceeded Santa Ana in the value of building permits issued during the month of June.

Los Angeles leads all the cities with a total of approximately three and a half times that for San Francisco. The latter city's operations were less than one million dollars more than those of Long Beach.

The cities leading Santa Ana in permit values were Berkeley, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Oakland, Pasadena, San Diego and San Francisco, all with far greater populations than this city.

It is revealed by reports from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah and Arizona, that Santa Ana was exceeded only by Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore.

Interesting Data
R. Porter Giles, well known to many Santa Ana real estate dealers, is in charge of the information bureau of Strauss and Company. He passes out the following interesting data concerning building operations on the coast:

"Pacific Coast cities have maintained their activity in new building construction during the month just passed instead of responding to the customary seasonal influence of reduction. The cities of the coast states, as a whole, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and California, report June building permits to twenty-six percent over those of

DOUBLE FEE

New Fee Schedule Effective July 28 to Give Department Relief

When the new building permit fee schedule becomes effective Saturday, July 28, stricter enforcement of the ordinance relative to obtaining permits will be practiced by W. S. Decker, building inspector, he said today.

The new fee schedule, prepared to create a fund whereby additional help may be secured to handling the growing duties of the building inspector's department, shows an increase of 75 to 100 per cent in the cost of building permits.

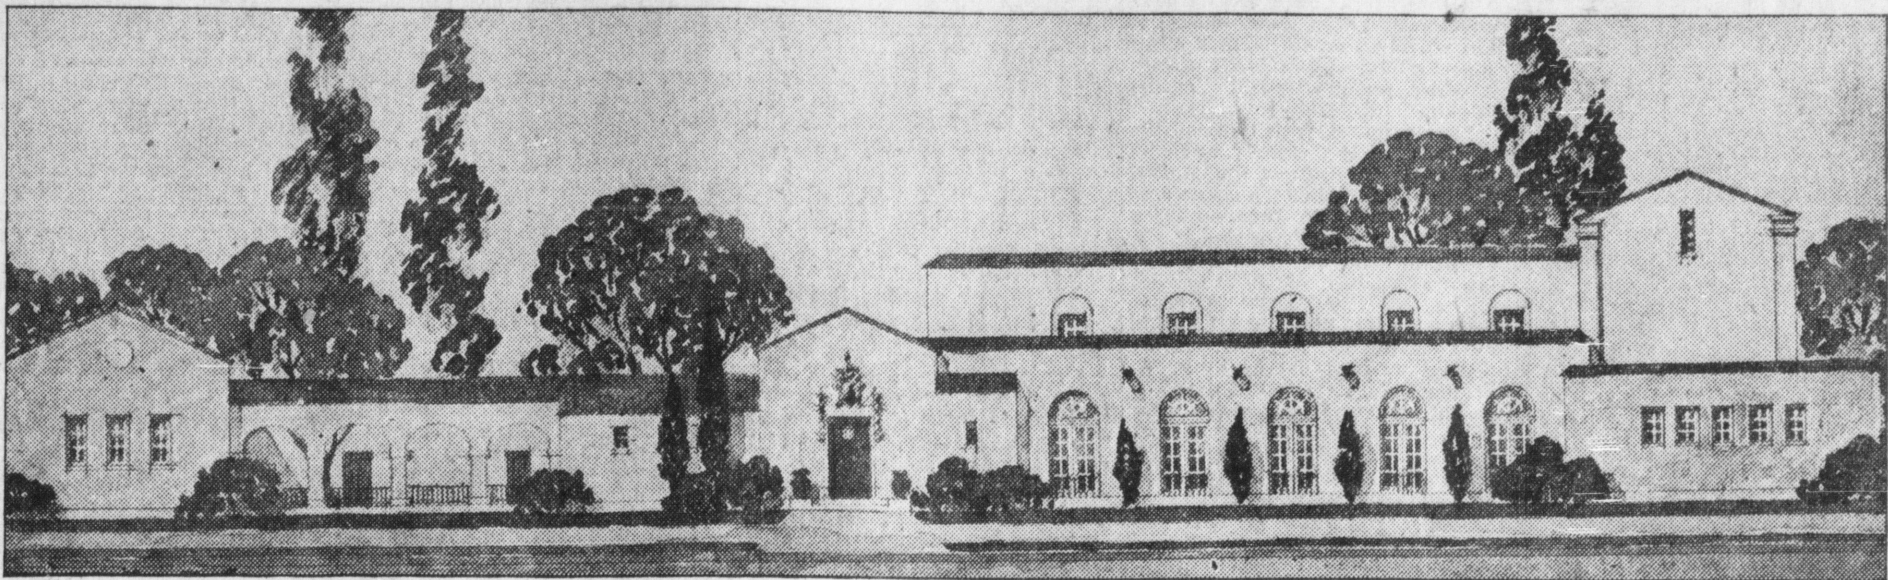

The new schedule was made imperative by the needs of the building inspector's office, Decker said, because of the record pace at which Santa Ana has been traveling in the construction of homes and business blocks.

By stricter enforcement of the city ordinance relative to obtaining permits, Decker explained that he would make it a practice to penalize, as permitted by the ordinance, any contractor or builder who fails to obtain the necessary permit before the beginning of construction.

The ordinance provides, the building inspector said, that the contractor or builder failing to obtain a permit before beginning actual construction may be penalized by payment of double the fee required. "With the increased fee as provided in the new schedule, threat of a penalty, which would double the fee, to builders lax in complying with the law, should prove effective," Decker declared.

"In the case of a $10,000 house, The fee has been $10.15. The new

Civic Planning Body Is Ready to Begin Business

Santa Ana has a civic planning commission, properly organized, officers elected and ready to function within its vested powers.

The commission consists of five members only, one of the smallest bodies of its kind in California. What it may accomplish depends to a great extent upon the co-operation it receives from other civic organizations of Santa Ana.

The commission is ready to take the lead in forwarding any proposition that is conceded to be for the advantage, present and future, of the city. It will serve as the motive force uniting the efforts of other organizations not formed primarily for city planning.

Formation of the civic planning commission has given Santa Ana a new dignity. It has been a public announcement that Santa Ana intends to retain and increase its reputation as a growing city with a lively interest in the welfare and comfort of its citizens, those here and those to come.

The commission will not function as an inspecting body of public projects completed, but as an advisory body in respect to projects of the future. Its aim is to be one step ahead of Santa Ana's development.

To retain its vantage ground, the commission should be given the benefit of all serious suggestions as to planning the future Santa Ana. The time to begin is now. The commission is ready.

SPENCER COLLINS IN BUSINESS GAIN

Indicative of the rapid growth of business projects in Santa Ana, Spencer Collins, men's clothing dealer, today announced that he had just completed additions and remodeling of his store, so that now he has double his previous floor space. Collins has been in business at 304 North Main street fifteen months only, he said.

Optimistic from the time of his entrance into business that Third and Main streets offered a good location for a clothing store, Collins said he secured a lease on a second store adjoining his own with an entrance on West Third street sometime ago.

He now has taken over the additional store room, and has included a tailor shop as part of his establishment. C. H. Baird, formerly with W. A. Huff, has taken charge of the tailor shop.

Orange Realty To Attract Buyers With L. A. Office

Declaring his belief that operation of an office in Los Angeles would direct to Orange the attention of men of means in the Angel City, Howard Williams, realtor of Orange, today announced that he had opened an office at 515 W. P. Story building, Los Angeles, as a branch of his Orange office.

Williams will devote a portion of his time to the branch office, B. D. Stanley, of Orange, will be in charge when Williams is absent.

"I believe maintenance of an office in Los Angeles, will offer opportunity for interesting Los Angeles men of means in Orange city and county," said Williams. "I am satisfied there are many investors in the metropolis who would be glad of an opportunity to invest in Orange county holdings and it is my intention to get in touch with such investors."

"I want to interest Los Angeles capital in Orange county property and enterprises and I know of no better way than to establish an office there."

LUCKY DAY BUY BY NEWCOMER IS REPORTED

Friday, July 13, was the big day in the life of Joseph Heim, according to his statement to W. C. Childers, one of the subdividers of Washington Acres on West Washington avenue, for on that day Heim bought one of the half acre lots in the tract and will anchor himself and family in Santa Ana.

Further interest attaches to the point that Heim and his family arrived here from Fort Dodge, Iowa, only two days before the lot purchase was made.

Heim is a brother-in-law of E. T. Beaudette, who made a record purchase of a lot in the subdivision. He arrived here from Fort Dodge one day about noon and by evening had completed negotiations for the purchase. Monday morning he had made payment on the property and Tuesday morning lumber was on the ground for a new residence.

Heim is now assisting in construction of the Beaudette house and when it is completed the force will direct its attention to erection of a dwelling for Heim.

C. B. Hurd, also a former resident of Fort Dodge, was one of the earlier half-acre purchasers in the tract, and it is through his influence that the Beaudette and Heim families have come to Santa Ana to establish permanent homes.

BANKER PLANS BROADWAY HOME

According to M. Eugene Durfee, architect, work will start tomorrow or Saturday on the erection of a $15,000 residence on North Broadway park for J. K. Hermon, president of the Santa Ana branch of the Pacific Southwest bank. The contract yesterday was awarded to Bowman and Preble.

This will mark the first residence construction work on the new subdivision at the head of North Broadway, declared by some to be the finest subdivision yet opened in Santa Ana.

The location will be on North Broadway park avenue, a continuation of North Broadway, with the

Subdivision To Open at Tustin Sunday

Tustin this week again swings into the limelight with announcement by Louis Brash of the formal opening Sunday of another subdivision in that community.

Mountain View Gardens is the name of the new tract, which embraces five acres, fronting on First street and lying between Yorba and North Pacific streets. There are twenty-six lots.

While the tract will not be opened to general sales until Sunday, Brash says that some who have known of his plans have been insistent in their demand that he sell them property without waiting for the opening day. As a result six lots have already been reserved, one of the purchasers already having started the erection of an $8000 residence.

B. B. McCulla is the purchaser who has started the residence, which is located on First street. Brash is erecting a stucco residence which he will sell.

Street improvements are being completed. The tract is supplied with water, gas and electricity, Brash says.

BIBLE CLASSES' FINAL EVENT TOMORROW

Preparations were virtually completed today by Miss J. Gertrude Hutton for the closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible school, at the First Baptist church here, tomorrow night.

"We find," said Miss Hutton, "that the summer Bible classes have proved invaluable to the children of the community, as well as the parents, and we are closing the classes tomorrow night with keen satisfaction over the progress we have made."

The school enrolled more than 400 pupils, with an average daily attendance of 220, which is remarkable, when you stop to consider that scores of families are away for the summer. We found, too, that many children whose parents were not church members came to the classes and enjoyed the instruction to the utmost.

Drawings and plans of the new Ebells society clubhouse to be erected at French and Mortimer streets were announced as ready for bidders by Frederick H. Eley, architect, today. Bids, he said, would be advertised for August 15.

The cost of the completed scheme has been estimated at $60,000. The building committee of the club has proposed erecting the clubhouse in two units. The first unit, for which bids will be requested in August, has been estimated to cost between $35,000 and $40,000.

The first unit, as outlined by Eley, included the auditorium and dining room portion of the building. The interior of the auditorium probably would be left unfinished, he said, if sufficient funds are not available for completion at this time.

The clubhouse has been planned for Spanish design. The main portion of the building to be the auditorium and dining room, according to the plans. Section rooms have been proposed to be built around a patio.

The seating capacity of the auditorium was estimated at 450 on the main floor and 200 in the gallery. A large stage with conveniently placed dressing rooms were included in the drawings.

The dining room, drawn 45x60 feet with a stage at one end, has been planned to include a well equipped kitchen in connection.

Featuring the patio design, two section rooms, kitchenette, and a secretary's office and board of directors' council room have been planned to circle the central court.

The rest room with lavatory and dressing room has been located convenient to all parts of the building.

TO TAKE VACATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Mrs. Julia M. Payne, secretary to Principal Jones of the high school, will leave this first of next week for a two weeks' vacation. Mrs. Payne plans to visit with friends in the northern part of the state for several days. Most of her time will be spent in Berkeley.

MOVE TO WIDEN FIFTH STREET FINDS FAVOR WITH OWNERS OF PROPERTY

Commentators Urge That Great Consideration Be Given to Method

ADVISE CO-OPERATION

Proposition Should Be to Mutual Advantage of All Concerned

Widening of Fifth street has become a matter of city-wide interest since the publication in The Register of a communication suggesting the street expansion from C. M. McCain.

Property owners on the street and the citizenry as a whole have voiced opinions as result of the suggestion. Opinion publicly expressed has been in favor of widening the street.

The manner in which such widening should be done was withheld for further consideration.

"The method of widening should be given thorough consideration," declared the property owners. "It should be to the best advantage of the property owners on the street." That the city as a whole should take part in bringing about widening of the thoroughfare was suggested.

Mutual Value
"Widening of Fifth street will be of value to every Santa Anan," a property owner asserted. "It should be a city proposition."

Effort was made to interview representative property owners on the street. A few declined to be quoted on the grounds that they had not had sufficient time in which to give the proposition mature consideration.

David N. Kelly, manager of the Abstract Title and Guaranty company, and O. H. Halsell, builder, both expressed themselves as in favor of widening the street.

Absolute Necessity

"I think the widening of Fifth street is an absolute necessity. I suggested such widening several years ago when I contemplated certain building operations there. Mr. McCain is to be complimented for reopening the matter now."

"Widening of Fifth street would be money in the pocket of all property owners and bring direct benefit to all Santa Anans."

"Great credit, as well as financial benefit, would be derived by the property owners if they agreed to the widening of the street. It might be well to make the proposition one of city-wide interest and support, though factional feeling must be guarded against."

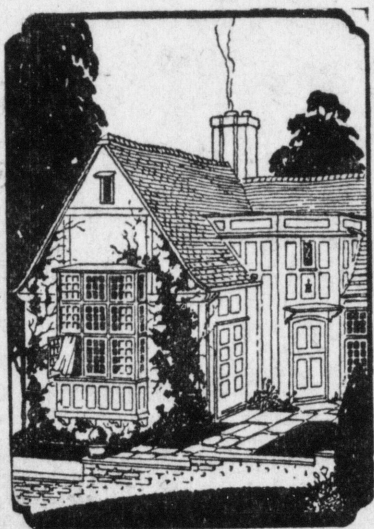

"The main thing is by hook and crook to bring about the widening of the street now."

Difficult Problem

A Good Investment

A little home is a good investment in dollars and cents, of course, but it is much more than that.

It is an investment in self-respect, for the dwellers in homes of their own have a certain prestige, gained by the evidence of stability which the owning of a home gives.

But best of all, it is an investment in contentment and the joy of living, for it cannot be gainsaid that "home-keeping hearts are happiest," and a home of one's own is the best kind of home to keep.

Listen, folks, there isn't an argument against owning your own home—you know it, and we know it—so why put it off?

S. A. SEVENTH RANKING CITY IN BUILDING

June, 1922, and three percent over those of May of this year. Previous June figures have usually been appreciably lower than those of the preceding month. Forty cities report a total of $44,276,673 of new building permits issued during June just closed.

"As compared with this is the summary of the reports made by 225 cities throughout the United States showing that the country as a whole gained in June building permits by two and one-half percent over June of 1922 but lost ten percent in comparison with May of this year. These 225 cities report a total of $250,000,000 in new construction for June. In the general national survey of S. W. Straus & Co. it is shown that Los Angeles ranks third in permits for June, being led only by New York and Chicago, and that San Francisco and Seattle are among the leading twenty cities both for June record and for that of the first half of 1923.

26 Per Cent Increase
"California, as a whole, reported June building permits amounting to twenty-six percent over those of last June and but one percent under those of May of this year, twenty-six cities reporting a total of $34,608,479. Two-thirds of the California cities show an increase over last June and one-fourth of them show an increase over May. The San Francisco Bay cities show three percent over last June and six percent over May. The Los Angeles group of cities show twenty-two percent over last June and twenty-three percent under May.

"Because of Seattle's remarkable report, $5,230,445, the cities of the North-West, Washington, Oregon and Idaho, show June figures thirty percent greater than those of last June and fifty-six percent greater than those of May of this year. While the number of permits issued in Seattle is exactly the same as last June and slightly less than May, the estimated cost figures are eighty percent over those of the previous June and one hundred and eighty percent over those of May.

"Reports from the Inter-Mountain States; Utah, Nevada and Arizona show a shrinkage of thirteen percent from May of this year but a one percent increase over last June, although Tucson shows a sixty-five percent advance over last June and a forty-one percent increase over May. Salt Lake's abnormal figure for May, $1,516,295, which was one hundred and sixty-six percent over April, and the June reduction to normal, $521,075, brought the May-to-June shrinkage noticeably high.

Long Beach Active
"Of the California cities, Long Beach, with $3,425,324 in new construction, reports a remarkable activity, an increase for June over May of ninety-six percent and over the previous June of two hundred and three percent.

"With an increase of three hundred and thirty percent over last June's figures, Bakersfield's report of $497,399 heads the list of relative increases for California and an analysis of the permits shows an increase in big projects.

"San Francisco with a report of $4,313,946 shows a shrinkage of fourteen percent and Los Angeles with $15,074,446, a shrinkage of twenty percent under May but an increase of twenty-six and twenty percent, respectively, over June of last year, while Oakland's June record of $2,751,751 is eighteen percent less than that of last June and sixteen percent greater than May.

"During the first six months of 1923 the Pacific Coast group of cities gained fifty-two and one-half percent over like period of 1922 while the country as a whole gained thirty-six and one-half percent. The 225 cities reporting their figures for this survey show a total of $1,700,000,000 for the first half of the year as against $1,250,000,000 for the same months of last year. Their totals for June were $250,000,000 for last June $245,000,000 and for this May $273,000,000. The Pacific Coast cities report approximately seventeen percent of the country's total of June permits."

"Virtually all the children have expressed themselves as being delighted with the summer course, and we have had numerous requests to continue the classes here next year. Teaching has been excellent in all the classes, and, in most cases, well above the average."

"The kindergarten classes at the Baptist church and at the Richland Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will have a typical program from 9 to 11 a. m., tomorrow, and will not have a place on the program in the evening. The public is invited to attend the kindergarten class in the morning, as well as the closing exercises in the evening."

Starting at 7:30 p. m., the program will include musical features, the award of certificates, a citizenship play and other numbers.

Boy, 11, Is Injured When Auto Hits Him

Ralph Boone, 11-year-old son of W. S. Boone, North Alameda street, El Modena, was at his home today, recovering from injuries received late last evening when he was knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by J. W. Sweet, of Villa Park.

The lad, who was delivering papers, was said to have ridden his bicycle into the path of the automobile. His injuries consist of concussion of the brain, a scalp wound and bruises. According to the attending physician, the lad is not seriously hurt.

MOVE TO WIDEN FIFTH STREET FINDS FAVOR

"I am in favor of any proposition for widening Fifth street that is to the best advantage of all property owners. It must be proven, however, that the suggested method of widening the street meets with favor from the property owners.

"Widening Fifth street presents a difficult problem. Decision in the matter cannot be made overnight. Before being quoted as to the method to be pursued I would want to give all suggestions much time and thought.

"The proposal in itself seeming to be to the advantage of the street, the city and the property owners. Narrow streets, undoubtedly, would hamper the proper growth of the city and business district."

BEACH PLUMBER IN DEFENSE OF CRAFT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19. —The plumber, the man who is always supposed to be walking back for his tools at the expense of the well-known taxpayer, came in for a stout defense both in the ways of his craft and the hours of his labor here this week at the hands of Ed. Manning, Ed. Manning was plumbing hereabouts when Huntington Beach was just a few houses, known as "Pacilio City."

Manning said: "Modern plumbing is almost a science itself. The plumbers and sanitary engineers of today conduct research and investigate causes and effects whereby they can provide comforts and conveniences in our homes that put to shame the wealthy, aristocratic mansions of even a decade or so ago. The health of whole communities, and of the individual members of every family, is protected and safeguarded by the skill and knowledge of these men. They work hand in hand with the medical men in their effort to prevent the spread of disease.

"Modern plumbing is more than just an assembly of fixtures with a network of concealed pipes, valves and fittings. It requires a mechanic with ability. It is a service of universal, practical benefit, giving comfort with economy, beauty and utility and finish with durability. The cottage of today has better facilities than the most pretentious homes of twenty years ago.

"The modern plumber and sanitary engineer teaches us how to live healthfully. They have carried their message to the small village and to the farm. They have taught factory owners the value of providing better and more sanitary working conditions for their employees. They have raised the standards of living throughout the country.

BUILDERS MUST CONFORM WITH PERMIT RULES

schedule calls for a fee of $20.15. The builder, penalized for failing to obtain the permit on schedule, would pay a fee of $40.30.

"This threat of imposing the penalty is not made with any idea of being arbitrary," continued the building inspector. "There are cases in which it is difficult to estimate the total cost of a proposed building."

"In that case, the builder or contractor may advise me of his difficulties and suitable adjustment may be made. But in future, this office must be in touch with all building operations as soon as construction begins."

"Time is the essence of a building permit quite as much as in many other contracts. A building permit is a contract between the builder and the city, implying that the builder will comply with certain rules and regulations relative to construction work."

"Heretofore there have been instances when the builder delayed until the roof was on his structure before coming to me for a permit. He had to come then because of the plumbing permit."

"In another instance, I saw a new residence being started. I found that the footings were prepared to be poured on at least eight inches of loose earth. No permit had been taken out. I did not know the name of the owner or builder.

"Negligence there, had I let the builder go his way would have brought about condemnation of the house as unsafe due to the poorly laid foundation."

"The building inspector's office may be of great assistance to the builder. It need never be a hindrance. A few minutes spent here by the prospective builder may save him many hours and many dollars later."

"The new ruling therefore aims to benefit the builder by compelling him, through a desire for economy, to make application for a permit before he begins actual construction."

County Aid Fund In Decrease for Year

Need for county aid has decreased in Orange county in the last year despite the increase in population, it appeared here today when the annual report of Walter S. Gregg, county aid commissioner, was made public.

A decrease of $13.79 in the expenses for aid is found on comparing the expenditures for last year, $28,526.58, and for this year, closing July 1, $28,512.79.

The county aid list now includes names of 349 persons, as against 387 a year ago. Twelve single men, thirty single women and seventy-five families are on the list.

Groceries and rentals make up the chief expenditures of the fund, Gregg's report shows.

All cases for aid are investigated and, although the aim of the commissioner is to aid all who are needy, none are helped who can help themselves, it was emphasized.

avenue cutting diagonally from Santa Clara avenue north to Santiago creek and following the creek line west to a junction with North Flower street.

According to Freeman H. Bloodgood, salesmanager for the tract, the construction of cement walks and curbs has been completed in Unit One of the subdivision, the unit embracing the ten acre tract formerly owned by Walter R. Fine. He pointed out that walk and curbs were built under the segregated material plan, insuring permanent work. Installation of public service lines and paving of North Broadway park avenue will be completed at an early date, Bloodgood said.

Considerable street work has been done throughout the full subdivision, according to Bloodgood.

TWO PERMITS ARE ISSUED THIS WEEK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 19.—Building permits have been issued during the last few days to Mrs. Jessie Wooten, who will construct a $1400 addition to her bungalow court at 221-223 Tenth street, and to F. B. Ferrigo for a $1,000 at 613 Huntington avenue, Vista del Mar.

Would Seek Oil On Incompetent's Land

Authority from the court to enter into a lease for the drilling of oil on property he holds in trust, was asked today in a civil action filed in the superior court here by A. S. Bradford of Placentia, as trustee for forty acres owned by Frederick B. Tuffree.

Characterized as a "friendly" suit, the papers name Tuffree, Mrs. Tuffree, their children and various brothers and sisters as defendants. Tuffree, by a previous order of the court, was declared an incompetent. Bradford seeks permission to negotiate a lease with C. L. Nickle of Glendora and J. R. Scott of Fullerton, on terms that provide for semi-annual payments of $3,600, and one-sixth of all oil produced.

LAD CRIPPLED
FOR LIFE BY RACE AUTO

Buster Ford, 12-year-old son of Luther Ford, Olive, it was learned today, will go through life a cripple, as a result of injuries received at the automobile races here Sunday, when an automobile plunged into a line of spectators and injured five, one of whom, Frank Lowry, of Huntington Beach, died later.

The lad sustained a fracture of his right arm and right leg. The leg was amputated above the knee yesterday afternoon at the county hospital, to which institution the boy was removed Tuesday. According to reports from the hospital today, the little fellow is getting along nicely. It is believed he will recover quickly.

Ernest Ham, 12 years old, son of Grant Ham, Tustin, whose leg was fractured, also was transferred to the county hospital. His condition is satisfactory, it was reported at the hospital.

Sam Ward, 1005 West Walnut street, who was injured in the same accident, yesterday was removed from the Community hospital to the home of his mother, corner South Main and Camille streets. According to the attending physician, Ward is improving rapidly. His most serious injury was severe concussion of the brain. He had been in a dazed condition up to this morning.

Ward is an employee of the county, having charge of the gas shovel operated by the county highway department. Prior to his employment he was a mechanic at the county garage. He has been in county service four years.

PRESTO! BLACK
SHOES MADE
WHITE

Was it a decree of fashion—Was it the weather or just the war?

Whatever it was, twelve dozen pairs of shiny black shoes, that left the factory in a perfect state of blackness, arrived at the Santa Ana post office in a mottled state of whiteness.

Sounds fishy, doesn't it? But there they sit, right on the floor of the postoffice, plenty of white shoes for summer wear.

"Fact is," said L. F. Harvey, postoffice official, "that a can of white paint and a shipment of black shoes got too friendly on the trip to Santa Ana and someone here is out a can of white paint and someone else will have a lot of shoe cleaning to do."

Some day, up in front of some shoe store, will be a table of shoes with a big sign which says: "These shoes at a sacrifice."

Bees Often Sent

Many a good laugh is indulged in by postoffice officials over some of the strange things that people send by parcel post.

"For example," said Harvey, (and all the men laughed as he told it), "someone sent through a bottle of maple syrup the other day. When I picked it up the package broke and I had a complete maple syrup shower."

"When royalty of the bee tribe goes traveling we often come in contact with her royal highness, the queen bee."

Combs of honey, wrapped only in newspaper, are not the "sweetest" things to handle, it was explained.

Addresses Faulty

"And," Harvey said, picking up some stray coils of black wire, "these may be new Fords, I don't know, but they are just about as free of address as many things which come to us sans wrappings and sans directions, these having been discarded on the way."

"Baby chicks, baby buggies, cantaloupes, trunks, suitcases and umbrellas; we get them all," Harvey said.

"But the funniest thing is to see the packages come back to people who put their own addresses where they should put those of the persons to whom the package is intended."

"Santa Ana gets more mail than it sends. The local postoffice sends out seventy sacks of mail a day and receives about one hundred."

HOLD RUNAWAY BOYS
Two boys, one aged 15 and the other 14, were being held at the detention home here today, pending receipt of word from their parents, who, the boys said, lived at Bayard, N. M. The boys were found by Officer Swain last night asleep in an orchard. Upon questioning, they admitted they were runaways and gave the New Mexico address as their home, police report said.

BRINGS CAR TO COURT TO WIN
DISMISSAL

Justice J. B. Cox has faced many drivers of automobiles in his court here—they'll say he has.

But today, for the first time in his judicial career, he had faced an automobile itself.

The automobile was introduced in evidence—probably, also, the first time that has happened in a case here. It wasn't actually a court "exhibit." It was more like a show window exhibit, the car being hauled on a truck to a convenient spot just outside the court's windows.

Jim Dominguez, charged with disposing of tires and other parts of the car, which he had bought "on time," was responsible for the innovation. Jim was acting as his own lawyer too, and, moreover, he secured a dismissal of the charge against him. This was mainly accomplished, the judge admitted, by having the car hauled to court as proof that everything was in place.

The value of the supposedly missing parts had been declared to be $160.

"Fuh," said Jim, scornfully. "How do they figure? Why, the price of the whole car was only $140."

The Simple Truth
From Your Editor

"We are wondering how many young couples now living in Santa Ana have not yet made arrangements for owning their own homes."

"Perhaps they were married a year ago, or two years ago, or perhaps in the past two or three months. They have, by this time, a good idea of what their annual income is or is to be for the next year or two. Possibly they have settled down into the rent habit, and are perfectly content with the way they are making their money go."

"Have they given the practical question of buying a home any serious thought? Have they unthinkingly said, 'Oh, we haven't enough money to buy a house yet?'"

"We sometimes think that there would be more of these young couples in homes they are paying for if they knew just what the opportunities for home-owning in Santa Ana are. Possibly they do not know under what terms loans are made by the building and loan association."

"One thing is certain, and that is if they are not in their own home, it is time they were figuring out how they are to get a home of their own."

"The question is one that concerns the future welfare of these young people. Home-owning means contentment and better citizenship. It is a mechanical means of holding fast the knot that the minister tied."—Register, July 13.

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

She Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wis.—“I feel that I ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could barely do my housework and washing. I was so run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do every thing that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family.”—Mrs. MARY SATCHEL, 944 28th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions; first, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

News from Orange County

VALENCIA SHOW IS TO RETURN NEAT SURPLUS

ANAHEIM, July 19.—For the first time since its origin three years ago, the California Valencia Orange show will probably provide the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce with a substantial balance in cash after all bills are paid.

Only Three Years Old

The show has put on three dignified and impressive expositions at Anaheim beginning May 17, 1921. The first was an artistic success, but ran behind some $9750 owing to almost continuous down-pour during its progress. The second, May 23, 1922, came out with in a few hundred dollars of even. Victor Loly, auditor, will probably make public very soon figures showing that the show this year was a financial success.

The show just concluded pleased the public and all the exhibitors who participated were proud not only of the artistic surroundings but also of the very high quality of the oranges exhibited. In July "California Citigraph" the editor has this to say:

"Fruit exhibits entered in the competitive classes for quality and pack at the California Valencia Orange show, Anaheim, May 30, were as fine, taken as a whole as any ever seen by the writer."

Fourteen splendidly contrived and executed features and over fifty other orange exhibits along the seven hundred feet of rack brought together over fourteen carloads of citrus fruits. The decorative scheme is said to have been quite as fine as any ever evolved in a similar undertaking.

Plan For Next Year

Plans for next year will be the subject of early consideration at the hands of the chamber of commerce, the body which founded and carried on the show which has now among its holdings fifteen acres of Valencia in bearing within one-half mile of the site on which it was held this year. Strong sentiment is at present advanced in favor of selling this acreage at a profit which will take care of a considerable part of former obligations. A lease for fifteen years with privilege of renewal is about to be concluded for an adequate site on El Camino Real within the city limits.

The growth of Orange shows in California gives rise to great rivalry in decorative schemes and entertainment without which any mere exhibition of citrus products will undoubtedly fail to secure popular approval. Consequently the board and managers have to plan something entirely new for each venture.

Keep Plans Secret

In this respect the California Valencia Orange show has been particularly well favored and next year will see a show contrived and executed not only on a larger scale as to the bulk of the exhibits and their quality, but also as to an entirely new motif for decorative surroundings, one which has never been attempted in the history of California. Obviously an inkling of these plans cannot be made public at the present.

OLIVE OIL LEASES GIVEN BY RANCHERS

ORANGE, July 19.—After two years of watchful waiting while the title of a number of plots involved was being cleared, the General Petroleum company has negotiated a hundred-acre community lease at Olive, according to oral word received here today.

Seeking More Ground

At the same time it was learned that the company is seeking two additional leases of 100 acres each, making a total of three hundred acres under lease for oil purposes. The 100 acre community lease is located between Batavia avenue and Classical street north and south of the Fletcher road. It consists chiefly of valuable citrus land with a sprinkling of walnut groves.

Those named in the lease include Mrs. Minnie W. Rieger, K. V. Wolff, W. M. Stowell, Mrs. Susan Tetzlaff, Charles M. Scott, Sally Guthrie, Chris Loptien, Mrs. Bessie Bush, Walter Liefers, George Doehner and Mrs. Katherine Fletcher.

Get $50 Bonus

According to the terms of the lease, the ranchers are to receive a $50 bonus per acre for the first year, this sum including rental. The second year, the lease stipulates, the ranchers are to receive $2.50 per month per acre rental while the third year the rental fee will increase to $5 per acre per month. Drilling, the General Petroleum says, is to commence before the end of the third year.

However, in event an oil well is brought in within 2500 feet of the outside boundaries of the lease, drilling must start at once or else the rental will increase to $10 per month an acre.

In case a well is brought in within 1000 feet of the boundaries drilling must start within ninety days without any alternative.

Meanwhile, leasing of the other two community plots is being held in abeyance until all details pertaining to the first lease are completed.

The General Petroleum company has had its eye on the Olive district for two years, having at that time made an attempt to lease 1000 acres.

Title to some of the property was at that time in a muddled state and the plan was abandoned, it was said.

"Desert Shadows" Is Purchased By Santa Ana Man For Mantel Piece

PLAYGROUND TO BE SCENE OF INDIAN DAY

By GERALD E. MARSH

ANAHEIM, July 19.—Warpaint, feathers, hair-raids, bows and arrows, and all the regalia that goes with full-fledged Indians is to be the order of the day at the Anaheim public playgrounds July 25.

This is the outgrowth of the playground movement which was started about two weeks ago by Mrs. Irene Jacques, athletic director of the local high schools, acting in co-operation with the Community Service club.

Mrs. Jacques will be assisted in the plan by her "Spark-plugs" a group of high school girls who are particularly interested in playground work, athletics, and storytelling.

Plans Nearly Perfected

The plans for the big day are progressing very nicely. Miss Marie Noll, president of the Spark-plugs, will be general manager and will have personal charge of the Indian stories, a feature of the day. Elizabeth Schweinfest and Elaine Webb will supervise the costumes which will consist largely of gunnysacks trimmed with feathers and bright yellow and red fringes; and Sarah Fay will help provide sufficient wigs for the pow-wows.

Charleen Smith and Alice White have charge of the Indian games and Kathryn Boltz the Indian sand-box. Other Spark-plugs are Grace Holdsworth, secretary, and Evelyn Cordes.

200 To Participate

The children, 200 in number, are nearly all working on costumes with bows and arrows so they can all appear as real Indians on the date of the celebration. One of the features of the day will be an archery contest in which probably only the boys will participate.

The playground work is entirely new in Anaheim and the success of it is manifested by the large numbers in attendance daily. The various civic clubs have generously extended their co-operation and have donated all of the equipment which now consists of a large shelter, sand-box, and canvas coverings for the baseball field. The city is also providing a slide, teeters, rock-a-bye swings and regular swings, parallel bars, and circular trapeze rings.

The playground is open from 1:30 o'clock until 5:30 every afternoon and all visitors are welcome. The program begins with the flag salute, followed by the singing of "America," after which the children play games, listen to stories and learn hand work. In addition to Indian day, Mrs. Jacques is planning a kite day and also a doll and pet parade day later on. However, the details of these have not yet been worked out, but will be made public in the next few days.

PLACENTIA, July 19.—Mr. and Mrs. William Bates of Caroline avenue are entertaining the former's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bates, and their daughter and niece of Fayetteville, Ark., who arrived here last Saturday after visiting the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

Miss May Strain has returned to her hospital work in Los Angeles after a four months' vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Strain, and at the Strain cottage at Laguna Beach.

Miss Anna Van Zandt, whose home is in Nebraska, is visiting Southern California for the first time, and is spending this week with her friend, Mrs. William Travers. The two were friends when they were both engaged in Y. W. C. A. work in Buffalo, some years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pierotti spent Sunday at Newport Beach, accompanied by the latter's father, Thomas Strain.

August 1 Is Date Set By Floridians for Start of Tour

FULLERTON, July 19.—The "Orange Blossom Special," bearing a number of Florida citrus growers to California, will leave Tampa, August 1, according to Edward L. Cowles, former local newspaper man who is here today.

Mr. Cowles said the men were coming with a dual purpose, of advertising their own products and of becoming acquainted with the citrus industry of this locality.

It is expected, Mr. Cowles said, that the train would arrive in Los Angeles about August 12. He will conduct the party to Fullerton where they will meet representative citizens and be taken for a tour of the town.

Fullerton Council Gives Engineer Job Of Buying for City

FULLERTON, July 19.—All departments of the city with the exception of that of the city clerk now are under the supervision of W. C. Record, city engineer.

By the passage of a resolution by the city council meeting a centralization of authority is affected and places Mr. Record virtually in the position of city manager, a change in policy which has been advocated for sometime by the chamber of commerce.

In addition to being given full power and authority in an executive capacity City Engineer Record has similar control over the purchase of all supplies and equipment. Under the new system it is anticipated that many economies can be effected.

The city engineer will be directly responsible in future for the following departments: street, sewer, water, pumping, park, building, plumbing and electrical.

NEW SCHOOL IN ANAHEIM WILL BE RUSHED

ANAHEIM, July 19.—The new grammar school, which is now just approaching the plastering stage, will be fully completed and ready for occupancy September 10, the opening day of school, according to Superintendent C. C. Smith, who is personally supervising the work.

May Need Another

Although this building will meet the needs this year, there will be an imperative need for another one to handle the increasing number of students in the lower grades next year, he said. It is thought that this addition will care for the larger enrollment this fall which is estimated as being at least 300 larger than the 1600 of last year.

The building is of excellent workmanship and made of material of the finest quality. One interesting fact about it is that it is being constructed without floating a bond issue and is being built by day labor. This will probably mean a saving to the community of about $10,000.

Employing Teachers

The list of teachers will not be ready to give to the public until about August 1, but are practically all hired. There will be a total of about fifty in the grammar schools alone and of these about fifteen will be new ones.

The board reports no new departments, but there will be added this year an ungraded room for Mexican children between the first and sixth grades.

GRIFFITH WINS TRIBUTE WITH SEASCAPES

By PRISCILLA EVANS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 19.—Conway Griffith, the "Pioneer Artist of Laguna," is perhaps better known in Orange county than any other Laguna artist. He has lived in the village since 1906, and his studio is a favorite gathering place for Orange county visitors.

Taught in Cincinnati

Mr. Griffith started to paint when a boy, as nearly all successful painters have, and when still a young man was an instructor in the Cincinnati School of Design.

After a few years of teaching his health failed and he came west and took up cattle ranching in New Mexico and many are the thrilling and hair-raising stories he tells of his adventures there.

Once, during an Indian raid, he spent a night in a Dutch oven, surrounded by whooping warriors, who, fortunately for him, were so intent on the warpath that they did not think of starting a fire in the oven and preparing food, otherwise "Griff" would have been cooked and "our village" would have no pioneer artist.

He studied landscape painting in Denver for awhile and spent some time in Old Mexico.

Started "Fremont" Legend

When he first came to California he had a studio in Garvanza, later moving to an old adobe in Los Angeles, which he called "Fremont's Home," though he says, it is doubtful if Fremont ever even saw the building; the tourists believed it, however, and bought anything he would sell, even pieces of an old pepper tree, returning to their eastern homes with "real" souvenirs of California!

The sea had always been one of his favorite painting subjects, so he moved from Los Angeles to Catalina and painted there for about four years.

From Catalina he came to Laguna and built the studio in which he still lives, though during the intervening years he has added to and improved it, so that now it bears small resemblance to the original.

Uses Talent With Flowers

Art and his garden vie with each other for Mr. Griffith's interest; or perhaps it would be better to say that Art assists him in his garden, for only an artist could blend the pink roses, heliotrope, white geraniums, dahlias and all the other flowers that blossom in such profusion beside the studio, into such a perfect picture.

The entrance to the studio is guarded by large bushes of soft grey salt bush and in the bamboo latticed patio grow the famous Griffith geraniums; enormous; clusters of gorgeous salmon pink blossoms.

Though always fond of the ocean and a sympathetic painter of its varying moods, Mr. Griffith has fallen a victim to the desert lure and makes several trips a year to Palm Springs, Indian Wells or other desert place, to paint.

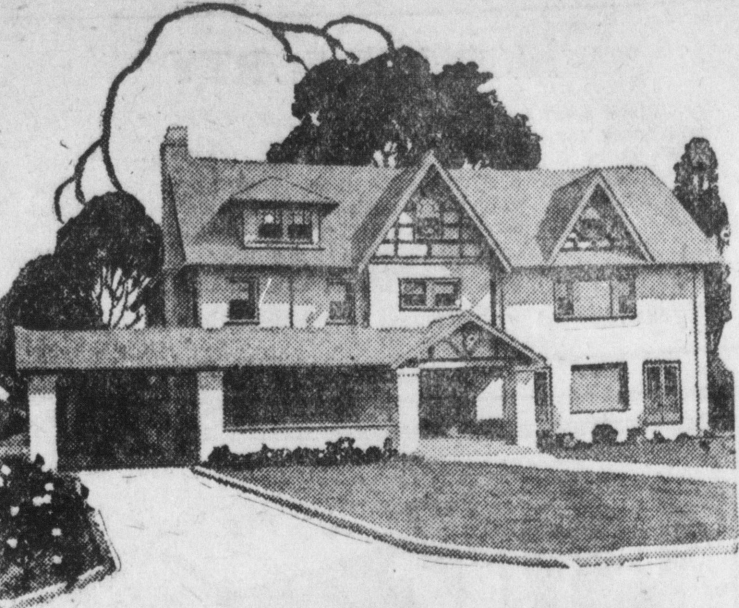

He has painted under great difficulties many times on the desert, sometimes in the terrific heat of summer, or in the bitter cold of winter, when the wind blew down from the snow-capped mountains to numb his hands so that he could hardly hold a brush.

He has had a canvas, on which he has worked for hours, ruined by a sand storm; he has slept alone on the desert, with only the stars for company; but the pictures he brings back with him fully justify the efforts they have cost.

Mr. Griffith is a charter member of the Laguna Beach Art association and a member of the California Art club of Los Angeles.

EVENING SALUTATION

In adverse hours, the friendship of the good shines most; each prosperous day commands its friends.
—Euripides.

MAKE PASSING OF AUTOS SAFE

The hardest thing that far too many automobile drivers have to learn is to keep in line. Increasing density of traffic on Southern California highways is making it increasingly more necessary that drivers train themselves to restrain themselves when both sides of the street are crowded from a nervous desire to pass automobiles that may be in line ahead of them.

A large share of accidents that occur in Orange county are due to the carelessness or recklessness of drivers who want to pass. The man who tries to get by an automobile when another is approaching is more dangerous than the speeder, and he deserves closer attention from the authorities than he is getting. Our far-famed Judge Cox probably ought to revise his schedule of penalties to include this kind of a driver in his "go to jail" list.

Ninety-nine per cent of the offenders aren't really in a hurry. In saving five minutes on an hour's trip, they take chances of wrecking their own and other's automobiles and endanger lives, and at the end of the journey they will spend more than the five minutes they saved in loafing around the car or the yard or the street corner.

In order to avoid confusion and disaster, the number of drivers who take chances on passing other drivers must be reduced. As traffic grows, the need will become more pressing; it is at a high pressure point now.

How is the number to be reduced?

Every careful, sane driver in Orange county is asking this question.

How else, excepting by severe penalties and the enforcement of the law against all of them alike?

And by the thoughtful determination of every driver to see to it that he is not an offender.

RIVALRY IN SHIPPING

One of the features of the Leviathan's first trip across the Atlantic as an American passenger ship, was a luncheon given at Southampton to 500 English shipping men and public officials. It was a friendly function, intended to introduce the gigantic liner as pleasantly as possible to the British people.

One of the American speakers took occasion to explain the American shipping policy as "a frank, free, open competition, in which the United States does not wish either to sweep anybody else off the sea nor to be swept off itself." The Americans, he told his British hearers, will "play cricket."

So they will. All good Americans hope that the government, in operating ocean shipping, will give no cause of legitimate complaint to other countries. Yet the very fact that such an assurance is considered necessary suggests the undesirability of the present situation.

If any controversy does arise about our shipping, as matters stand, it is government controversy, because of federal ownership and operation. And thus purely business questions may result, some day, in diplomatic difficulties. There must be business competition between different countries; but it is safer for private individuals, rather than governments, to do the competing.

International misunderstanding is always on the part of the other nations. We always understand.

FATAL BALLOON RACES

The last government balloon race—this one conducted by the navy—resulted in fatalities as usual, costing the lives of two lieutenants and destroying two balloons. The balloons can be spared, but how about the men?

There may be some sound scientific reason for continuing such "experiments," but the average citizen finds them hard to understand except as dangerous and rather pointless sporting events. The big gas bags drift at the will of the wind. There is a little power of control, by sacrificing ballast or gas to raise or lower the bags, but those possibilities are soon exhausted. Helpless balloonists are often blown out of their courses into uninhabited regions, sometimes far out to sea, or dropped into some inland lake or river. Always there is danger in landing.

Is anything really learned about air currents, temperatures, etc., by such methods which cannot be learned just as well, and more safely, with aircraft driven by their own power and subject to the pilot's will? Or do the army and navy just keep up the game, started before the airplane was invented, because it is an established institution?

LOCAL RESPONSIBILITY

Federal prohibition, it appears, is a thing not to be officially thwarted in a community that does not like it, nor even officially ignored, but officially upheld and enforced. This is the obvious meaning of the policy announced the other day by the police commissioner of New York city.

Here is authoritative acknowledgement that the metropolis, as a part of the United States of America, is bound by congressional enactments, and must obey them. All of which might have been self-evident all along to any citizen of New York who stopped to analyze his responsibilities as a citizen.

If New York were not required to obey federal laws, it would not be permitted to send representatives to the federal legislature. And obedience, as correctly interpreted by the police commissioner, means not only the passive acquiescence of private citizens but the active co-operation of the local police powers with the federal authorities.

This frank acknowledgement should help to clarify and improve the situation in every community in the country where the local authorities have been slacking on the job, under the pretense that they had no responsibility for enforcement.

A certain small car is said to be rapidly approaching the well known flivver in volume of sales. Can it be because the head of the business is not running for President?

MOTHERS' PENSIONS A SUCCESS

All but six of our states now have some sort of mothers' pension laws. The U. S. Department of Labor recently investigated the working of these laws in a number of representative communities. It found that from the large city to the rural community, the system is mending broken homes, saving mothers from the loss of their children and assuring the children a better chance in life.

Although the laws vary somewhat, they are essentially similar. When aid is given to a family of several children, household budgets are carefully worked out on a strictly economical basis. The pension then supplies the difference between the budget needs and the actual income. In some states the amount to be paid is restricted by law. In some cases, therefore, the gap between the budget and the income cannot be fully met by the pension.

In spite of mistakes in administration and blunders in the making of the laws in the first place, a great deal of good is being accomplished by the mothers' pension. Careful investigation prevents abuse of the system. Its careful administration means hope and health and opportunity to thousands of children.

"Can the German mark come back? somebody asks. Possibly—if Germany makes a bonfire of about 40 quadrillion paper marks and doesn't print any more.

In Minnesota First

San Bernardino Sun.

Forecasts and predictions are numerous and general that out of the state of flux in which our national politics seems to be, two new parties will emerge that will bring the long heralded radical and conservative political organizations, representing the two tendencies in present day political thought.

Natural development is hardly a matter to be planned ahead, and nobody set the stage in Minnesota, but an election is to be held there Monday which largely fulfills the predictions, and out of it the northern state will send to the United States senate either a conservative or a radical, although nominally both leading candidates are—or were Republicans.

The death of Senator Knute Nelson a few months ago created a vacancy which Monday's election is to fill. The candidate of the conservatives is Governor Preus, a Republican, and presumed to be the candidate of the Republicans who stand for the Harding administration. He is described by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, the well-known Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, as "the brilliant young protégé and long heralded political heir of the late Senator Nelson."

Governor Preus is opposed by Magnus Johnson, who is described by Mr. Herwing as "a character who glories in his picturesque uncouthness and the possession of the loudest voice in Minnesota," and one of the Johnson arguments illustrated in his campaign is that he refuses to wear a white collar coat and that he will wear no other kind in the Senate. He may win in Minnesota on that platform, but it will be remembered that Kansas sent Peffer to the Senate and "Socksless Jerry Simpson" to the House in Populist days, both of them long since forgotten, while the world remembers Senator John J. Ingalls as a statesman of balance and ability, a master of English and a past master, in the use of invective, while his poem "Opportunity" will be a classic as long as the language is known. Which is merely suggested as illustrating that "queerness" is not a guarantee for quality.

The Democrats have a candidate in the field, but he is completely lost sight of in the battle between Preus and Johnson, with Democratic voters championing one or the other of these because he is a conservative or because he is a radical. Party names have come to mean even less in Minnesota and in much of the Middle West than they mean in California and the Pacific Coast.

Signs are not wanting, however, that the election of Johnson in Minnesota is more than possible. The election comes at a psychological moment for the candidate whose only platform is a protest. The fact that wheat dropped below $1.00 per bushel this week for the first time in nine years will mean votes for Johnson. He capitalizes discontent. That there is ground for the discontent is only too true, but whether he and his fellow-radicals have the panacea is quite another matter, Senator La Follette and his following from Wisconsin are over in Minnesota campaigning, for Johnson. If Brookhart of Iowa were here, instead of in Europe, he perhaps would be doing the same. It is the most formal bid for political prestige that radicalism has ever made to conservative America.

Patriotism in Jail

San Diego Union.

There are two general ways of honoring the flag under which we are proud to live. One is easy, direct, noisy and sometimes violent. The other is difficult, calling for clear thinking, continued effort and hard work. An example of the first sort of patriotic championship of the flag will make the contrast clear.

During a parade in Fresno, a former enemy alien, who is still an enemy and an alien, insulted an American flag carried in the procession. He narrowly escaped being mobbed before officers could hustle him away to jail. The next morning it was found that the alien's fellow prisoners in the jail "tank" when they learned of his offense, had administered punishment of their own. The desecrator appeared in court with blackened eyes and a swollen face.

Now the men who administered the beating were, in a way, standing up for the American flag. They were, however, very clearly doing it in a rather negative manner. They were doing it in the easy way.

Had the men who slugged the offending alien been themselves honoring the flag, most of them would not have been in jail. It is not often necessary to jail a good American. Good Americans don't peddle liquor, pass bad checks nor indulge in the run of misdemeanors and felonies for which men are put behind the bars. Furthermore, good Americans don't merely refrain from doing these criminal things, but they go ahead into useful activities which keep them still further removed from the chance of legal imprisonment.

While it is gratifying to find a hot indignation against flag desecrators even among the inmates of a jail, the love of citizenship that keeps men far removed from the law's penalties is a much finer thing. This isn't a condemnation of the easy patriotism, but a plea for more of the difficult kind.

California's Crops Thrive

Long Beach Press.

California crops are coming on excellently. Official reports of conditions are quite favorable. There are some drawbacks in some productions. But the general aspect of the reports is reassuring.

There is this about California soil productions which is notable: There is some form of crop yield in every month of the year, in some part of the state. Crop productions are not limited to certain periods. With products of some kind coming into market all the time, the wealth which the soil produces is well distributed throughout the year. This equalizes prosperity and keeps money in healthful circulation all the time. This feature of economic life in California is not dwelt upon as much as its importance deserves. There is a constant turning of produced assets here, so that the currents of economic activity are running steadily. This promotes general and persistent prosperity.

Taking Home the Bacon

Planning For Years to Come

San Diego Union.

Here's a scene from the past, laid in a dusty street bordered by wooden shacks that stand desolately against a background of rolling hills, wide valleys and endless miles of wild earth. The time is half a century ago. The leading citizens of Smithville—or Jonesville, as the case may be—are gathered to plot out lots and blocks and intersecting streets on the site of what they dream will sometime be a city, or at least a village.

They're a bewhiskered and roughly dressed crew, these prominent citizens, but much in earnest. Their seriousness, in fact, might be comical to a non-partisan observer.

Among these men is a leader of course. He's a man who owns most of the virgin acreage about this embryonic settlement. He's the mover of this plan to chart out a city for the future. Perhaps his only motive is to make a solid profit out of the town lots that he believes can be sold in this future trading center for the fertile farming valleys around it—but perhaps his idea is a little finer than that, perhaps his eyes are more visionary than shrewd, and he sees in coming years a thriving little city where he and his comrades began so sturdily to wrest a foothold from the sagebrush. 'Perhaps there's a little of the creator in his mind. But let that pass.

As the group straggles along the single street, it is this man who insists that the "street" must be made wider. The flimsy shacks upon one side must be moved back, he says, and his promise to deed land for other streets and squares induces compliance. Of course, there is some disagreement.

"This here street is as wide as any street in New York city right now," complains one man. "Do you think you're building another New York out here?"

"No," is the answer. "This isn't a little New York city or a little Boston. This is now. And this town or village or city is going to have fine wide streets—wide enough for everybody that wants to use them, if the towns gets ten thousand times bigger than it is now."

So the town is planned. The years pass by. The men who laid out those wide streets, together with those who joked when a section of the dusty wagon road in front of the shacks was named "Main Street," are gone. Rich farming country surrounds the city that had grown up there. Two railroads enter, and "Main Street" is part of a transcontinental highway. The wide streets of the city's thriving little "business district" are a boon to thousands—and the limit of growth is not yet reached. They'll be increasingly needed as the years go by.

What is this? Smithville—or Jonesville, or any one of a hundred thriving little cities that have come into being in the Golden State, and that have reaped advantage from the vision of men who planned by future possibilities, rather than by past precedents.

Like the leader in this imaginative sketch, the men who believe today in the splendid possibilities of California and the sure growth of California are planning for the future. They learn by the past, certainly—by the expenditure of millions in Chicago, for instance, to widen streets that were planned on a stingy scale—but their vision is ahead.

It's the future that we must meet, not the standards of the past, and this is just as true in San Diego today as it was in Smithville half a century ago. It's just as true, too, of water development and harbor development as it is of streets.

Fresno Wants a Manager

Stockton Record

Fresno, after two years' trial, has become convinced that the commission form of government is a failure and is now proposing the city manager form. The working objection found with the system is that there is no directing head. That was the obvious theoretical objection. Which is another instance showing that if attention is paid to theory, the trial and error process is not necessary. Learning by practice is a costly process.

The objection found to the commission form of government, as stated by the Republican, reads exactly like the theoretical objections made to the system, and Fresno's experience is not different from that of all other cities, including Stockton, that adopted the commission form of government. However, in many instances, the commission form has filled the immediate stage between the old federal system and the city manager system. It is worthy of remark that none of the cities that tried the commission form have gone back to the mayor and council system, but those that have changed have progressed to the city manager form. Fresno's experience will correspond with Stockton's in that respect.

Fresno's dissatisfaction with commission government as expressed by the Republican, is:

"We have been operating for more than two years under this new form and the results we expect have not been accomplished. We have greatly increased our governmental costs and we still have the same slipshod handling of municipal affairs that we had under the old form of government."

"We can blame the present city commission for many of the conditions we now have and some of the things they have done have not been excusable, but after all it seems that the principal difficulty in the way of an orderly operation of municipal affairs has been in the form of government that has been prescribed."

"We have three legislative officers who are also executives. Each is supreme in his own department. The executive head of the city government bears the title ex-officio, which practically puts him out of business when it comes to performing all of the duties that should be expected."

"Because of the fact that the city departments are separated and that the present charter failed to co-ordinate them under one head, each department head has felt that he could do as he pleased in his own department and has jealously guarded the department against what he has at times been led to believe were attacks directed in order to shear him of some of his authority."

"With the city government divided into three or four separate parts each almost completely independent of the other, it is not hard to find one of the principal obstacles to an orderly conduct of affairs. . . . The trouble with the government of the city of Fresno is that there is no directing head and never can be under our present charter."

Fresno in the past years has been something of a laboratory in municipal government. First, it was a city of the sixth class, governed by the state law. At that time there was a council of five men, elected by wards. The candidates ran as Democrats and Republicans. The "cross the tracks" district regularly elected one Joseph Spinnery, who could neither read nor write, but was a very shrewd politician and dominated the board.

Chiefly to get away from Joe Spinneryism, a new charter was adopted, patterned after the San Francisco charter, making the mayor an autocrat. Under this charter L. O. Stephens was elected and it was during his administration that the picturesque Fresno of the old days was changed to the modern Fresno. But the inevitable reaction came, and the element that resented the Stephens reform succeeded in electing as a "protest" their own candidate. In mid-term he resigned, much to the relief of his own sponsors. After this fiasco, a number of charter amendments were made and Dr. Chester Rowell was elected mayor. He died in his term of office, and the administration was then one of drift until the commission charter was adopted and the present administration went in two years ago. Truman G. Hart, a leading citizen of Fresno, was elected as commissioner-mayor, but having no more commission than any of the other commissioners, he has been unable, according to the Republican, to give to the city an executive head.

It may be assumed that Fresno soon will join Stockton, Sacramento, San Jose, Berkeley and other progressive cities in adopting the manager form of government.

Unprecedented

By Berton Braley

Whatever the spot you may visit,
A mountain or sea-side resort,
If you should remark, "Oh, why is it
That rain interferes with our sport?"

The natives will give you this reason,
As though they were chanting
together,
"It's normally dry at this season,
But this is unusual weather!"

And when from the city you're flying
To some "breezy country retreat,"

And find everybody is frying
In almost unbearable heat,
When all of the countryside blazes
With fires of a world that is nether,
You hear this most frequent of phrases,
"It's really unusual weather!"

"It never was this way before,"
They say of the heat or the wet,
"We've lived here a lifetime or more,
And this is the worst we've had yet."

The boosters are always inclined
To some sort of bull to un-
tether,
Wherever you go you will find
It's always "unusual weather."

New Explorations

A scheme is on foot to explore British New Guinea, the interior of the island never having been traversed by a white man. The aim of the expedition is to determine the economic value of New Guinea to the empire, and to add to the sum of scientific knowledge. It is hoped to send out an advance party to select a suitable harbor as a base of operations. For the main expedition the personnel will include experts in entomology, botany, geology, mining, engineering, anthropology, chemistry, archaeology, tropical agriculture and topographical surveying. The non-technical staff will number eight, and so exacting are the conditions that out of 74 applications, only three have been found to comply with them.

NO. 13—THE UPSY DOWNSIES.

In Rainbow Land there's a place where the Upsy Downies live.
Because they do everything in exactly the opposite way that it really should be done.

And that was the next place
Nancy and Nick came to.

"What a funny place!" exclaimed Nancy. "The back door's on the street and the tea-towels are hanging where everyone can see them.
And the ash-cans and the milk bottles are everywhere."

"Forward foot worst our putting in here always we," said an Upsy Downy, overhearing Nancy's remark.

"You'll have to turn his words backward," whispered Mister Sky Bow, "for they put their last word
first like the Chinamen."

"Oh, you believe in putting your worst foot forward," repeated
Nancy. "Is that it?"

"It that's, Yes," nodded the Upsy Downy, "us about all you tell ill."

"That's fine!" cried the Twins.
But Nick had an idea. "Wait!" he cried, "I'll have to write it down, for if you talk backward we can't remember so much. There now, go ahead, please." So the Upsy Downies began, but if you wish to read it, my dears, you will have to begin at the last word and read to the top. This is what the funny little fellow said:

"all That's, us like to anyone want don't we and odd be to like
We. folk well to medicine give only and onions and beefsteak babies our feed we. Tuesday on breakfast and morning the in tea have we meals our eat we. When last C's B A our and first lessons hard other and Greek our learn
we school in. around everything turn we so, world the of rest the from different be to like we."
"Then we shall leave at once!"
said Nancy. "I'm sure we won't stay where we aren't wanted."
And they all marched off.
